You enter the doors of Northern thinking that you have it all figured out, you have to have your picture taken at 7:45 at Heritage Park which you didn't know existed, you have to attend the Mardi Gras assembly after sixth hour, you can't wait for school to end at 2:20 or Portfolio day to end on the sixteenth, you know the yearbook is in color, to be at Kudzia's from three to eight for wall building and to attend the 7:00 homecoming game at Memorial Stadium, but what about the unexpected? What about "acing" your POD test, getting accepted to your number one college, the yearbook divided into seasons or receiving the Video iPod for Christmas, that girl to say yes to prom or that guy who you've been dying to go out with finally asks you out, the entire class silent or turned around during the pep bone or maybe Ulmer doing the grape toss dressed as Superman? This phenomenon of unpredictability is what is so memorable about high school, the ability for things to happen without warning. The only thing you can count on for the time being is Northern's title; you revolve your life around this place. You may fall in the spotlight or stay in the shadows while you're here, but your day here at Northern is unmatched to any predictions. Like the weather, especially in Port Huron as you know, it cannot be tamed, but also if things turned out differently than the way you had planned, it is only four years of your life. On the other hand, it is your chance to shine and show what you're made of. The idea that anything can happen here and that no one expects it proves this true, so...

Spring 2006

Taking the win for this years Battle of the Bands was "1336." Their well prepared and very exciting set proved it was well deserved!

"We won! Everyone was pretty stoked. We celebrated the night away."
-Nate Rutkofske ('07)

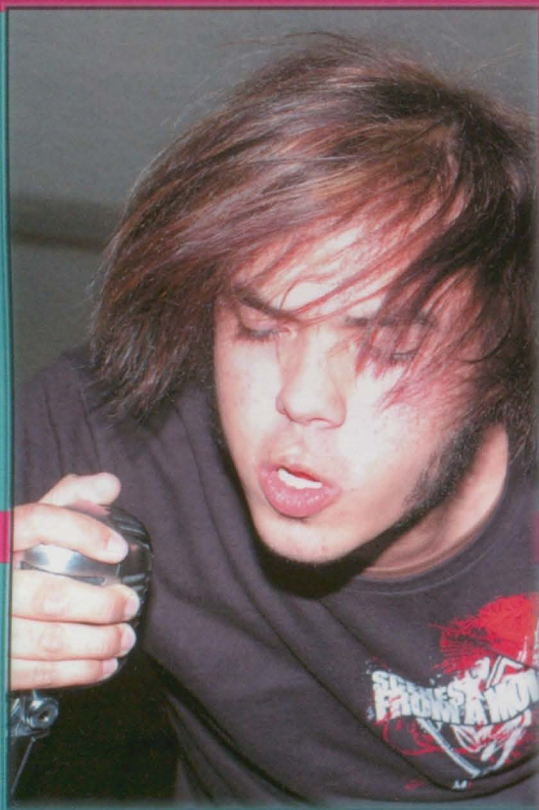

Center Stage!

Have you ever wanted to perform in front of your school, show off all your hard work and talent? Well, if you were to participate in Battle of the Bands, you could do just that! Battle of the Bands is a fund-raising event for the baseball team, but it also is becoming an annual event for people to display their talent. Mr. Dwyer who is in charge of the fund-raiser said, "All the performer's have been cooperative, fun to work with and they all have great talent."

"I enjoy being center of attention very much. It makes me tingle when people see me play music," Dennis Cornwell ('07) said. Dan Murphy ('07) who has played for the last 2 years said him and his band had been playing for a while, so instead of being nervous they were stuffing their faces with McDonalds. Dan loves playing his instrument so he said, "Playing was a plus."

Now, how could we forget the energetic Jeremy Davidson ('08) and his fellow emcee Tamara Lavati ('05). Both were emcees for the night and kept the audiences attention and interest while they waited for the next band to set-up. Jeremy said he loved hearing himself over a microphone, he defined this feeling as, "Very powerful because you have everyone at your fingertips, you feel on top of the world." There were many special guests who helped out one way or another, but everyone should thank Mr. Dwyer for his trust and confidence in the students and their performances on stage. Everyone should join into the fun, so sign up next year and show em' what you've got!

-Kasie Bowers ('09)

Rocking the stage for one of the most hard core shows was Blair Spear ('05) of "Among Love and Murder!" His presence on stage pumped up the crowd for an awesome show!

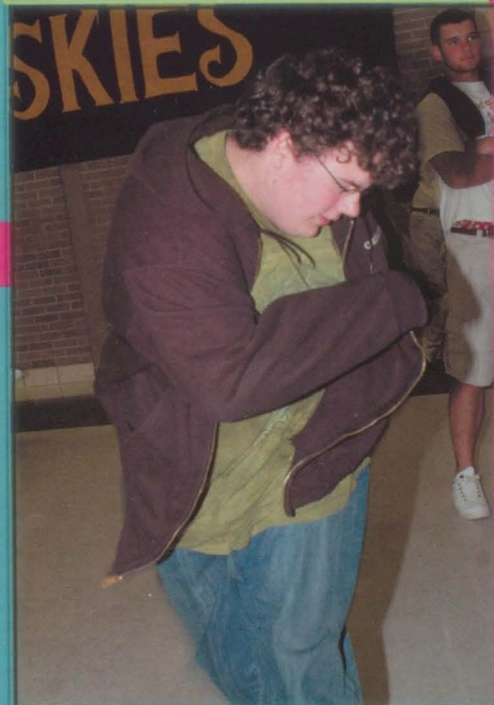

Battle of the Bands

"I was inspired to do Battle of the Bands partly because of my love of Nate Rutkofske, and partly my large ego."
-Brad Perry ('07)

"We should have won, no one else gave out free shirts."
-Dan Murphy ('07) of "Epic Prologue"

"The grand finale is a tradition that the baseball players are required to participate in. I think it's important because it shows the crowd who made this happen."
-Mr. Dwyer (Baseball Coach)

"It was a musical meter of funk-watts that crashed into the Port Huron Northern Cafe."
-Brad Perry ('07) of "Tom Lane and the Ice Breakers"

You've heard them before, only this time they came back with a new style and crew. "Lone Divinity" returned and fought harder than ever for the gold.

Junior Prom

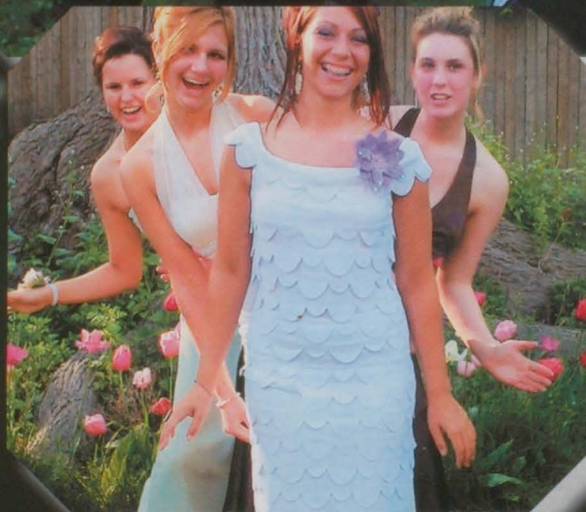

"I found the theme 'A Starry Night' ironic because it rained."
-Brendan Lynch ('07)

"Hanging out with my friends was the most memorable part of Prom because they're amazing and we all looked sexy."
-Gordon Inch ('07)

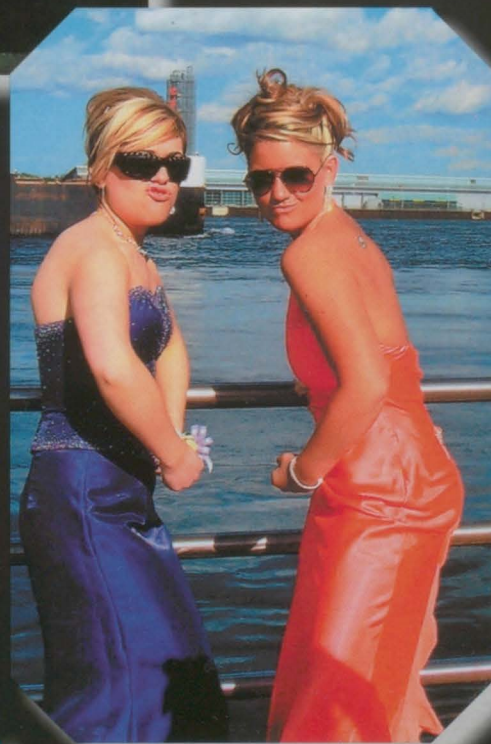

"Dinner was great, I enjoyed the atmosphere. The night in general was memorable" says Dennis Cornwell ('07). The moments we spend together like this are what makes high school amazing!

"The after parties were amazing, more fun than the dance itself. If I could I would relive the entire experience."
-Lindsey Gintner ('07)

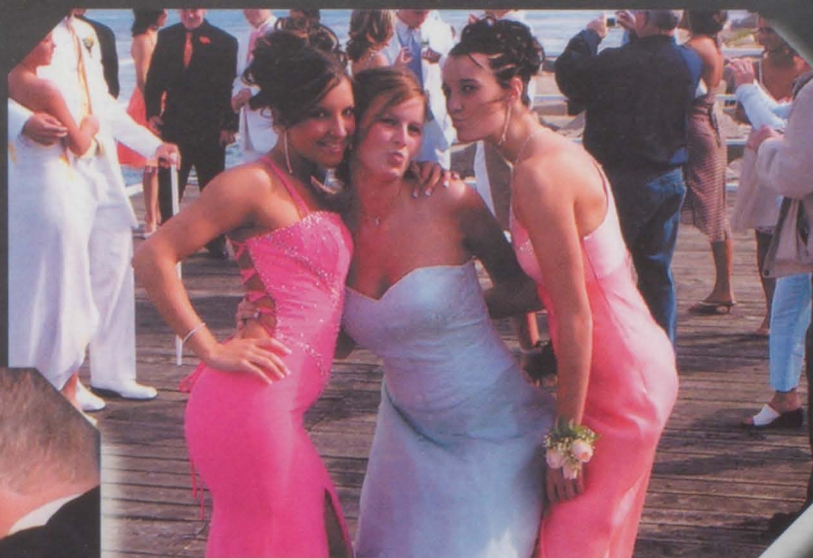

Psyched and ready for the "big night", Kelsey Bayes ('07), Elaine Gumalski ('07), Erica Arnold ('07) and Ashlyn Wayne ('07) show off in style before Junior Prom. McMorran hosted the last memorable event as underclassmen for the Class of '07.

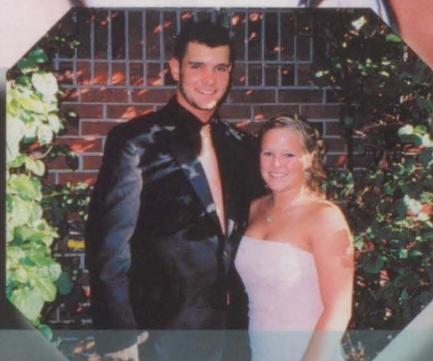

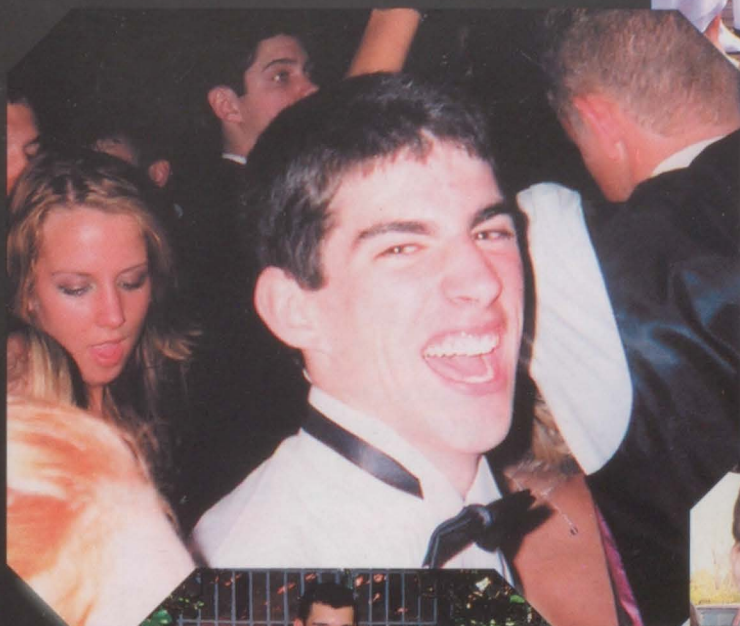

"The most memorable moment of the night was taking a party bus because we could do whatever we wanted. It was fun and not a lot of people got to do it."
-Matt Mullally ('07)

"The party at Abby's house after Junior Prom was fun because we were all together and stayed up dancing and just having a good time."

-BriAnne Lindsay ('07)

"My prom was special because I was with a beautiful girl, my friends and I had the time of our lives. The atmosphere with your class is an unforgettable time, a time you will never forget."

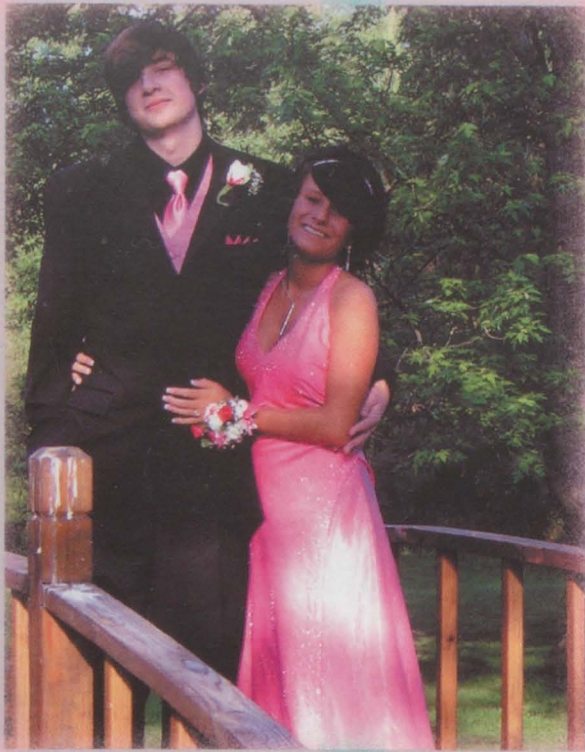

-Kyle Rhody ('06)

"Breaking" the ice, Andrew Mullally ('06) and Eric Adams ('06) get the party started at Senior Prom. The Seniors had their last big blow out at McMorran to the theme of "Happily Ever After."

Taking a moment from their Senior Prom, Jenni Summerer ('06) and Jeremy McGave pause to flash a smile. This was their last big 'fling' together before graduation.

Showing off their huge muscles and sweet shades, Mike Wilkinson ('06), Ryan Miller ('06) and Matt Ordowski ('06) mess around and have fun before heading off to Senior Prom. Having as much fun as possible helps keep this special night in your memory forever.

Looking smashing in their matching pink, Matt Peters ('06) and Tiffany Frick ('07) pose together fabulously. Senior Prom is a great way to celebrate the end of your last moments in high school.

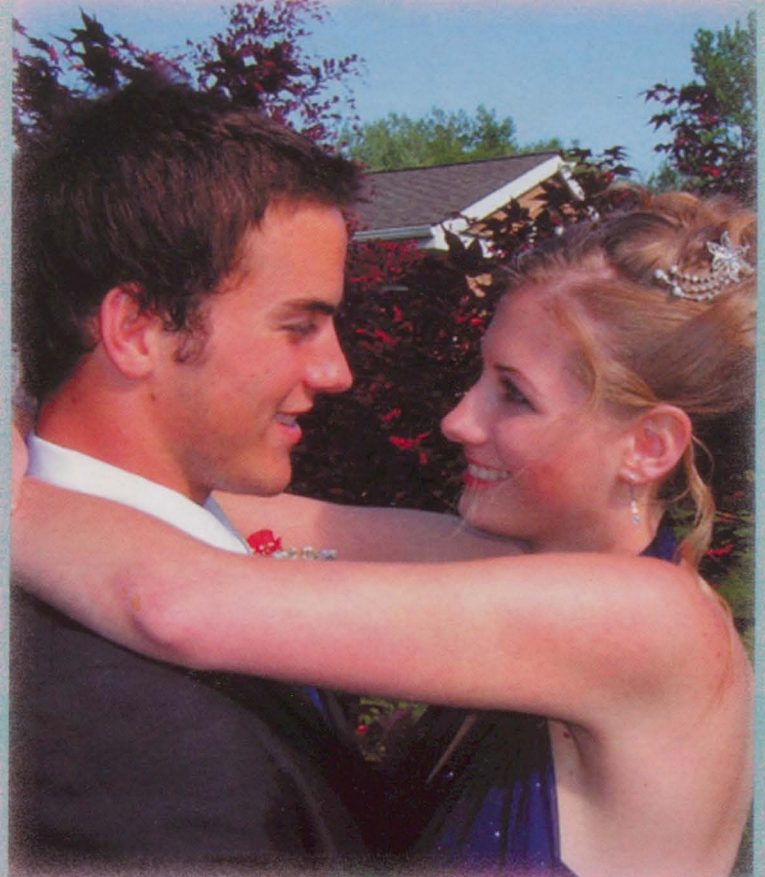

Senior Prom

With smiles, Mark Jarvis ('06) and Stacy Sherbutt ('06) pose for pictures before heading off to Senior Prom. This is one last chance where the Senior class can be together before starting their lives out of high school.

"The most memorable moment was dancing to Aerosmith's 'Dont Wanna Miss A Thing.' Aerosmith really knows how to put you in the mood."

-Whitney Cash ('07)

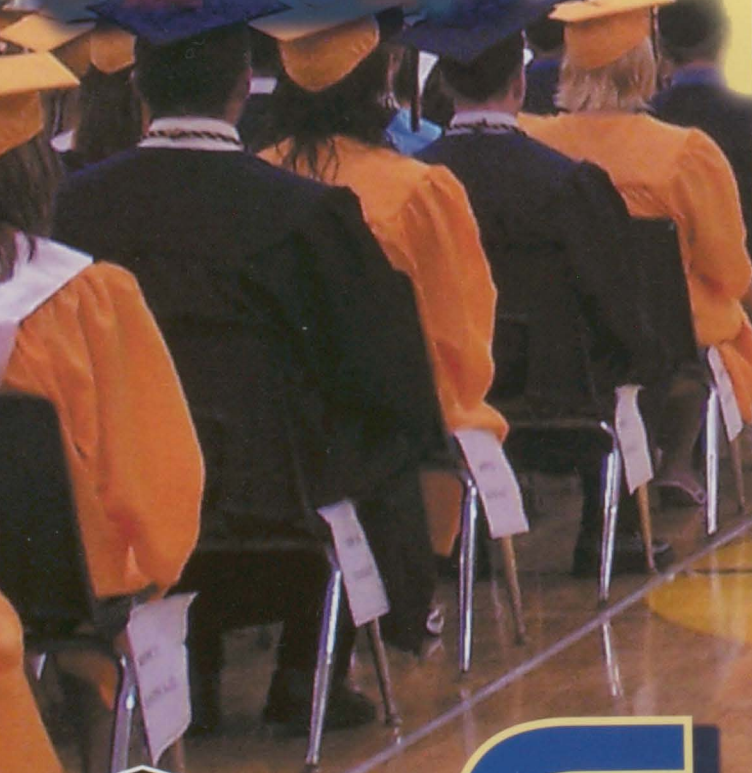

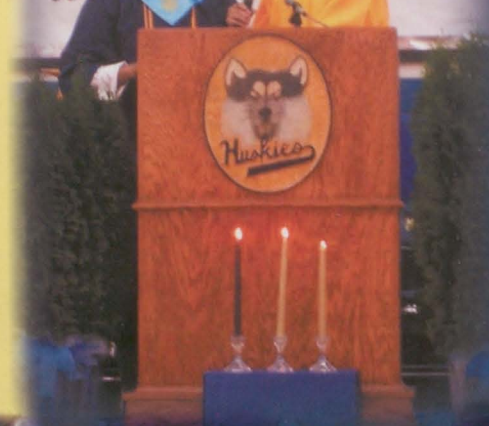

Composing their thoughts before they reminisce with their classmates, Kevin Totty ('06) and Alex Hill ('06) quickly get ready to capture the crowds attention. The Senior Assembly is an annual event that can be both emotional and memorable.

Taking advantage of a moment with a celebrity, Kyle Kamidoi (06'), Rachael Vanderaa (06'), and Emily Eppley (06') capture a "moment in time" with Coach Moore. The class of 2006 was honored and fortunate to get such a distinguished motivational speaker.

Think of the things you normally do everyday; get up, go to school and walk those impossible hallways. You sit in class, do your homework and wait impatiently for the next bell to ring. It seems like just yesterday the seniors were freshmen doing all of this for the first time and now the only walking left to be done is down the aisle among your fellow peers and receiving your diploma into the real world.

Graduation, to some means freedom, and accomplished goals; no more Newpoints, cramming for tests and waking up at 6:00 A.M. everyday. To others, graduation means college and filling out applications. It means leaving home and saying good-bye to beloved high school pals, and crying mothers, who just can't let go of that last hug. What happened to that scary high school? It doesn't seem so bad now. How is it going to feel to put on that yellow or blue gown?

Some seniors say it's the scariest thing. Graduation can be a big dose of reality that they're not ready for yet.

According to Bens Fold Five (a punk rock band) "Everybody knows it sucks to grow up". How many cases of senior-itis are there in the course of the year? Many students are ready to leave, to leap out of that nest and fly away to something bigger. College to them means scoring that hat trick in life and pressing their dream to become something bigger. It means sitting in American History and taking all those endless hours of the SAT and ACT that will be worth the grade in society.

Graduation to every student is something different and a new experience, something to cherish, regret, dread, and look forward to or feel a sense of accomplishment.

- Erica Arnold ('07)

The PHASD school board members welcome Herman Moore, coach from "Remember The Titans," as the key note speaker at PHN's 2006 graduation. Coach Moore celebrated diversity, integrity and the competitive spirit in his address.

Staff Spotlight

No matter where you go, there is and always will be that one teacher who changes your life. That one teacher you go to when something exciting happens, who gives you advice that you need to make it through a tough situation. There will always be that one teacher who you don't want to disappoint and somehow manage to impress. And there will always be that one teacher who leaves a lasting impression; a teacher you will always admire and never forget. Port Huron Northern is full of teachers just like that and one in particular is Mr. Adolph.

Ever wonder if there was a teacher out there who was able to manage teaching two difficult subjects such as Biology and Algebra, and still manage to coach Varsity Volleyball and JV softball? Mr. Adolph has been able to do so with great passion. "I love teaching," he blushes smiling, "It allows me to coach and I love when old students come back." When asked if mixing teaching with coaching was difficult he answered grinning confidently, "NOPE!"

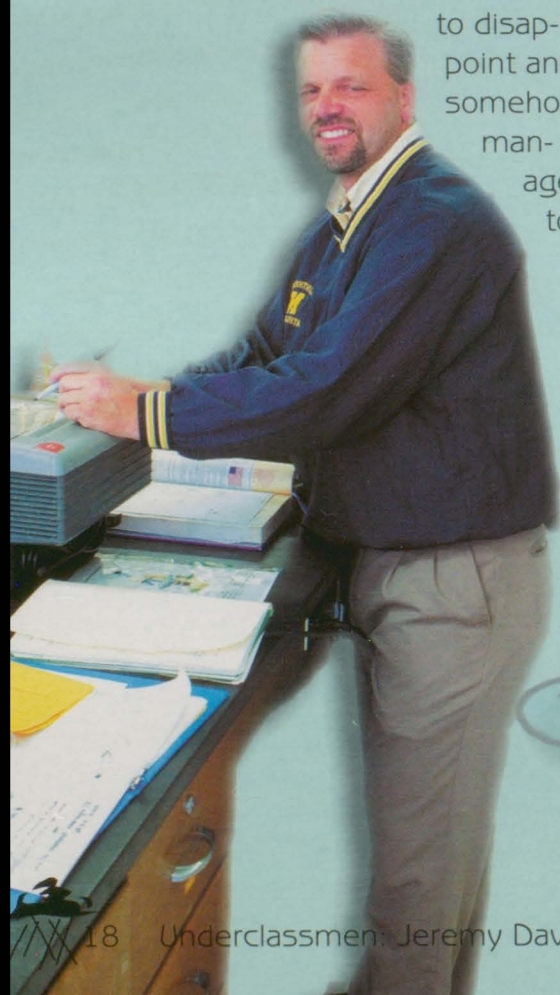

Unlike most teachers, Mr. Adolph did not grow up with the dream of teaching. "I actually wanted to be a lawyer," informs the Central Michigan University graduate, "I knew I wanted to do something with math, people, and security. Teaching hit all of those, and I can still coach," he grins.

In his off time, Mr. Adolph is just your average guy. He enjoys sports, of course, and plays volleyball and softball when he gets the chance. He also enjoys 4-wheeling and boating. You see, teachers aren't always reading books and grading papers.

There is no doubt that Mr. Adolph is a teacher who changes lives. Just by the smile on his face while answering students questions, you can tell that teaching is what this guy was meant to do. "I love coming to work in the morning. I enjoy the kids. I will always communicate with a student and I'll always give time if I can." By: Alli Moore

Freshman Spotlight

Have you ever wished that some rules could be changed just for you? Especially right after you recently switched schools, which means having to get used to an all new different set of them! One new comer, freshman, Jonathan Heise, or known to his friends as Jon, Jonny, or Heise, does.

"They won't let me wear my bullet belt," he says in frustration, "They yell at me if I come to school with it on!"

Jon may not like the rules, but he definitely likes Northern a lot better than his middle school. Even if it's not what he thought that it would be.

"No, I thought it would be bigger than it is. It's a lot easier than I thought it would be too." Most freshman are nervous their first day, and they get lost easily, but not Jon. He wasn't nervous, and he didn't get lost at all. Jon was smart and chose to use his map!

With more opportunities here at Northern, Jon says, "The sports are a lot better tool" Jon stays busy all through the year with sports.

Being involved in football, wrestling, and then baseball, he is kept occupied most of the time. He normally has about a week off before he has to start practicing and training for the next sport. It doesn't bother him though because he loves each sport so much.

When he is not at the extracurricular practices, he is busy doing other things that he enjoys. These things include: sitting in class, doing homework, practicing his guitar, surfing the web, spending time with his family, or just hanging out with his friends. Jon tries to spend each minute of his time equally with everyone around him, therefore he can not seem to catch a break.

Sophomore Spotlight

For most of the students attending Northern, they have grown up here in Port Huron for almost all of their lives. To meet a student who had an opportunity to see different sights aside from our surroundings, it is great to hear about the different experiences that they have encountered.

Alyson Kemp, or Aly for short, was born originally in Virginia, but then at the age of three she moved across the ocean. Her father, who was involved in the Navy currently at the time, had been transferred to Italy and had the family go along with him. Then at the age of five, Aly moved back to Port Huron. Aly said that her most vivid memory was when she had seen snow for the first time while there. When asked if she would ever return, she replied enthusiastically "Of course I would! I love everything in Italy... including the food."

Besides her out of state events, Aly is also very involved with her school life.

She has played soccer almost all of her life. "It's a fun sport to play." She also wrestled at Holland Woods for two of her middle school years. She believes that Algebra is her favorite class with the teacher Mrs. Trask, even though school isn't exactly her favorite. Aly is also a very fluent musical artist. She began playing the trumpet in 6th grade and has excelled ever since. She is currently in band, which she views as quite an accomplishment. She admits that she does get frustrated while she plays. "What makes me mad is when I have trouble playing the music."

Looking into her future, Aly hopes to get into a decent college and have a successful career with a loving husband and family. "I would like to attend CMU, go into the teaching field, and eventually get married and have 2-3 kids." But as of right now Alyson is your typical teenager.

Junior Spotlight

You might have never met Jay Thames, but when walking to class you surely can not miss him. Standing at 6 feet 9 inches, "This most stunning athlete makes his debut here at Northern," says Spencer Thomas ('08). Considering the student's size, his main priority this year is to play basketball.

After living in Maryland his first two years of high school, Jay has come to Northern to dominate as our new starting center/power forward. "I like it here because it's more focused on the team," Thames exalted. "I've been playing all my life and it just comes naturally to me." Also with Jay, what is on the mind of "every" teenage boy, "Women, females, and girls. I love the ladies!"

Spring into... ...Science!

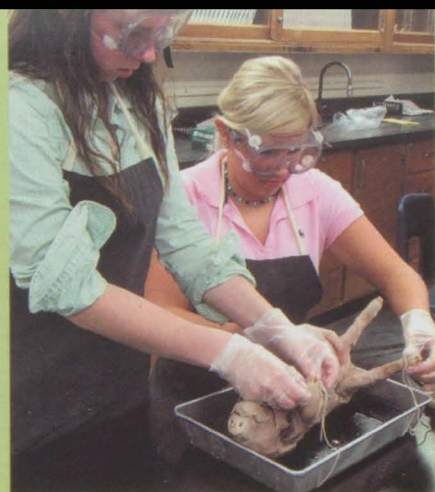

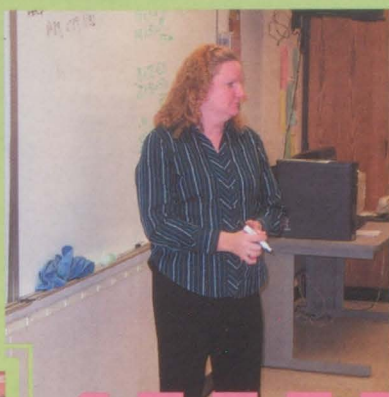

Taking exact measurements is crucial in classes like AP Biology. Seniors Matt Mullally and Michael Wilton carefully test the water temperature for their experiment.

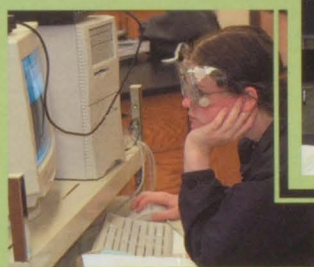

Did You Know?

Did you know that the human head contains 22 bones. And that there are 19 major earthquakes every year!

Watching intently, Mrs. Dunham observes as Cody Viers ('07) inflates his pig's lungs with a straw. This was the first time that the anatomy classes dissected pigs instead of cats.

Even though most science classes are mandatory they are a lot of fun. Anatomy is popular for its dissecting, while Chemistry, Biology, and Physics are well liked for their many labs. "Hands-on" classes like these can be the most effective way to learn for some!

The elective classes offered here at Northern are very popular among both students and staff. Here pictured are students in the various classes learning and just having a great time.

ELECTIVE CLASSES BLOOM

Interests, everybody's got them. But, they're not all the same. The best part about Northern is that it offers so many different elective classes that everyone's bound to be happy, at least for one hour at school. "I decided to take Law and Justice, because I've always been interested in the American System of Government and wanted to take the opportunity to learn as much as possible about our government," said Stacey Bennett ('07). "You may think some classes aren't for you or it's not interesting, but chances are you will take it and you'll probably end up loving it, It just depends," claims Alexz Rodriguez ('08).

So, maybe you're not exactly sure about what elective classes you want to be in, but not to worry, your counselors have great recommendations and they know how to help. Mrs. Wiley, one of our counselors said that, "I always recommend a student try one of our Fine Arts classes. We have a fabulous choir and band director program."

Finding an elective class may seem hard, but counselors and staff, as well as your friends are always there to help. There's an elective class for everyone!

-By Brooke Cichoracki

Elective Classes

"I love art because I enjoy drawing. It's really fun because Mrs. Labeau is a good teacher."

-Chrissy Fredendall ('07)

"You join choir as friends and you leave as family."

-Jessica Hughes ('07)

"Having people draw on my head was just an all around fun experience. I actually learned where everything was on my head."

-Gordon Inch ('07)

"I love the court classroom in Law and Justice because I enjoy learning about the legal issues."

-Jessica Milton ('09)

"I took Law & Justice because it provides plenty of opportunities for the future."

-Lucy Case ('08)

Did YOU Know?

There are 16 different elective classes available for most students. To enroll in other elective classes such as Yearbook and Newspaper you need to be recommended by a previous english teacher. Certain choir and band classes have try-outs to decide who receives what position in the class.

"I joined radio because it sounded fun, and now I'm the program director."

-Michelle Youngs ('07)

"Students use their interests and talents to choose electives."

While discussing the days activities Tyler Busdicker ('07) munches a candy bar as he looks on. "Going in Senator Kerry's office and looking at pictures of him fishing was one of my favorite experiences," said Tyler.

Imitating Eleanor Roosevelt, Jana Nakhleh enjoys her visit to the FDR memorial while participating in the Close-Up experience. Jana's favorite part of Close-Up was meeting people from all over the United States.

As the crowd cheers on, the alto-saxophone line takes the field to perform. When at attention, the band is required to stand still and not talk, which may last

Marching All The Way To a 1

-By: Aly Moore ('09)

You hear them at our football games. They pep us up at assemblies, and it seems they're always getting out of class for something. They're the PHN Marching Band. We all know that the marching band is a part of our school, but how much do we really know about the guys and girls who probably don't get as much credit as they deserve?

Busy practicing for hours after school has ended, the marching band was preparing for the M.S.B.O.A. competition (Michigan Schools Band and Orchestra Association) in which they were given the highest rating, a one. Our marching band is in the AA class which is the highest class available. This was their second year receiving a one in the competition. They even surprised themselves. "When we got a one we were all shocked," said flute player

Cheyenne Johnston ('09), "Mr. Senkmajer even cried." M.S.B.O.A. was held in Memorial Stadium and there, the Northern band played three songs, "Mask of Zorro," "Diego's Goodbye," and the "Mask of Zorro Finale." "You have to take a lot of time learning all your music and getting it right so we all sound good," informs Josh Thompson ('07), "It takes a lot of dedication."

For the Northern Marching Band, Mr. Senkmajer is one key individual to the Huskies success. "Mr. Senkmajer is very passionate about his work. He loves us all," gushes Mary Justice ('09). "He's a good role model. He tries so hard to get our band to be the best it can be. He respects us so much and we respect him. I don't think we'd be as good if we didn't have him."

As the band marches to one of their tunes, Mr. Senkmajer conducts the show from the sidelines. Conducting is very important as it helps the band not only follow the music, but also march in time.

Steven Friedland ('10) arrives at his spot on the field while Ben Kramer ('07) plays in the pit. This year the band performed the music from the box-office hit, "Mask of Zorro".

Sliding into base, Sarah Brenann ('08), forces the 3rd baseman to drop the ball. "The intensity and the excitement of the game," Sarah says are her favorite aspects.

Striking a fast ball, Catherine Goetze ('09), while maintaining focus. "Softball is fast pace and you can change the game around from one play," she explained.

Cloud of Dust

Swinging with all her might, Kelli Corsetti ('08) knocks the ball into the outfield for a double against Utice. Kelli was a key player for the JV team.

Arriving into the plate, Lindsey Guyette ('08) saves herself to remain safe. "Cheering and stealing the bases," Lindsey said were her favorite things about playing in the game.

Connecting with the ball, Katie Kurkowski ('08), denies the pitcher the ability to strike her out. This is Katie's first year playing for the Huskies.

Catching another strike three, Austin Garcia ('07) finishes another opposing batter. Austin also was the Huskies leadoff batter collecting twenty-two hits in seventy-eight bats. "I have been playing for thirteen years, I like baseball because in baseball you get to think more," stated Austin.

Pounding another basehit at the game against Dakota, Chad Coats ('07) drives a fastball up the middle. Chad hit .272 from the second order. Chad also had a total of eleven stolen bases.

Winding up to really "cut it loose" Cory Zauner ('07) delivers a pitch in a key Mac Red Contest. Cory posted a 1.62 ERA during his junior season. "I have 13 years of baseball experience. I have played since I was little and my family played too."

Racing for the ball, Amanda Scott ('06) hustles to get the ball from the opposing soccer team. She has been playing soccer for nine years and she is sincerely dedicated. "Being injured and having to watch everyone else play, when I couldn't was the toughest part," confesed Amanda.

Stealing the ball from an opponent, Chelsea Borkivich ('09) dodges a quick attack. Chelsea was one of the many freshmen that were accepted into the Varsity level.

Moving away from the Northern side, Shelby Feher ('08) keeps distance between her and a PHHS player. "The toughest part about soccer was probably the practices in the rain, not easy conditions to play in," she explained.

Intersecting a kick from Lakeview, Shelby Jordan ('09) uses a high knee to stop the ball. "I started playing 1st grade, stopped playing and then started again in 4th. I love playing, so I still play," Shelby announced.

Summer soon

"Sun" Days!

"I went on the Fiji, New Zealand and Hawaii trip and that was a blast! My favorite place was Australia, it was so beautiful."

-Karlee Schulz ('07)

"All the parties I went to this summer were fun and I got to hang out with my friends."

-Katie Kurkowski ('08)

"My favorite part of Rotorua, New Zealand was when we went to a real, live erupting geyser, it was beautiful. The entire trip was exciting by far and Sydney, Australia is the best city in the world."

-Kelcie Semrow ('08)

"We drove down to Key West from Miami. We had to cross 7 Mile Bridge. It was cool because the Atlantic was on one side and the Gulf of Mexico on the other."

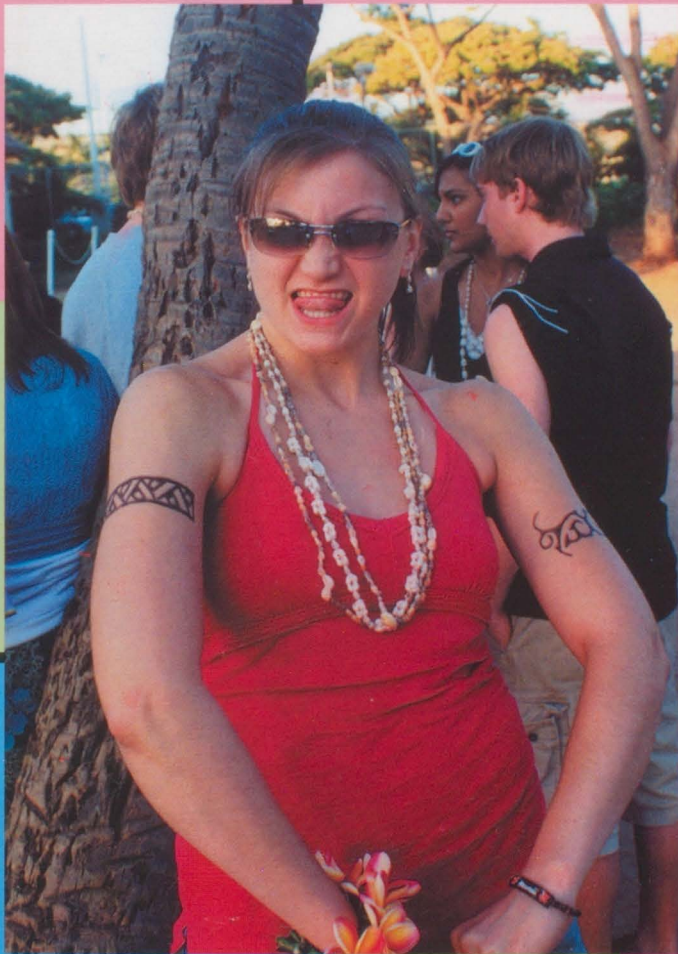

-Trina Parmann ('09)

"I got my own car, so after that I was never home anymore. Hanging out with my friends and cruising around town is the best. Besides, it was our last summer and after the next one we have to go to college."

-Jessica Hughes ('07)

"The Luau in Hawaii was really sweet. A few of us got amazing 'tats' and finished an accelerated course in Hula Dancing."

-Kim Thomas ('07)

"I would say my favorite part of summer was just hanging out with my friends. I went to Mount Rushmore and it was kind of fun too."

-Kristen Albrecht ('09)

"I can't wait for the summer so I can go to the beach again. Hanging out with my best friends is my favorite part of summer."

-Lauren Albrecht ('08)

"This is me in Rotorua, New Zealand next to a picture of a native fighter. They would make this face to intimidate their opponents. The best part of the trip was in Auckland when we got to ride down a mountain on street luges."

The Hottest Trends '07

We all have our own style. Regardless of what you may call it, fashion, style, mode, vogue, fad, rage, or craze, fashion has a major impact on who we really are. While walking down the hallways, what do you observe? Of course, your fellow classmates and what they are wearing. So what exactly is the "in style?" Take a valid glimpse of fashion, the prevailing style.

By: Shaina Lavati

I'm sure our parents never thought they'd see the day where kids would spend $40 on "pre-ripped" jeans. Well, teens here at Northern have welcomed the look with open arms. Pants are being purchased with holes, rips, stains and patches.

You've seen them EVERYWHERE!!! The popped collared, thick, striped polo shirts. Guys wear 'em, girls wear 'em, it's a neat authentic clothing style for all of us.

"Aww, those are cute!" It's a nice little add-on to your outfit, and it seems with these beads, the bigger the better. Appearing in all different colors, the necklaces are becoming a female fashion hit!

Along with the beads comes the unnecessarily (but yet a necessity) big glasses. Used to protect the sun from your eyes, they also serve as one of the year's hottest styles.

"Yes, that's right, it's an iPod 30 Gig!" These little devils come quite in handy when you have nothing to... well they just come in handy. Holding up to 75,000 songs and around 5 full length movies, it's everything you need to get through the day.

Show off your favorite bands with a concert t-shirt! It's a true way to personally display what type of music you listen to. They look great and they also tell people quite a bit about 'you.'

Singing out to his crowd during a sold out concert in Detroit, Bryce Avery from "The Rocket Summer" leads with his biggest hit.

Music has been and always will be a huge part of our lives. We look up to those who inspire us through their music. "People enjoy music because it's something outside that impacts the inside," explained Peggy Brown, a Spanish teacher and vocalist. "It's a tool that can be used to evoke an emotional response in someone, yourself, or someone else."

Over the summer, many students went to concerts to see their favorite bands perform live, which is a "once in a lifetime" experience. Some of the concerts that your fellow classmates had attended were Bayfest, Warped Tour, and other music icons.

Amber Ernst ('08), really wanted to see "Bands of the same genre playing at the same time," at Warped Tour, she also commented that was unexpected to "be able to see the bands at the merchandise table," which caught her off guard.

Some students who had their "connections" to certain bands had an extraordinary great time at last years Bayfest. Joey Sontoni ('09) explained that, "My dad runs 107.1 and he announced all the performers, so I got to go backstage and meet Keith Urban, Gretchen Wilson and Brooks and Dunn."

Many of these concerts are the highlight of the summer. Those who had the chance to leave and view these concerts in either the DTE Energy theatre, the Palace of Auburn Hills or Freedom Hill Ampitheatre got a chance to enjoy those few hours of their own musical interest.

In great excitement, sisters Kelci Semrow ('08) and Taylor Semrow ('09) get an opportunity to pose with the drummer of "Cartel."

Mr. "Buffalo" Wing

"Hey there goes Buffalo wing" yells a student as he passes by in the hallway, probably busy with another technical job. Mr. Wing has been working with the PHASD for the past 14 years by doing jobs that "provide services and media to meet the needs of students, teachers, and administrators," as he puts it. "You've got to be on your toes there's always something breaking," he says.

"This year has been a good year for the students and the staff, especially with the new carpet, the new layout, and the new computer lab," as he refers to the media center that has gotten a much needed makeover that has benefited many students and staff. "This year everything is a lot more manageable and easier for the staff, and there's something new every day."

Now Mr. Wing doesn't just work in the media center, he also teaches for the Michigan Driving School here at Northern. He says the classes run from 2:30-4:30 Mondays through Thursdays and they keep him very busy. So as you can see "Buffalo" Wing always is on the go. Just remember we should never take for granted all the work he gets done around here.

-Chad Sparling

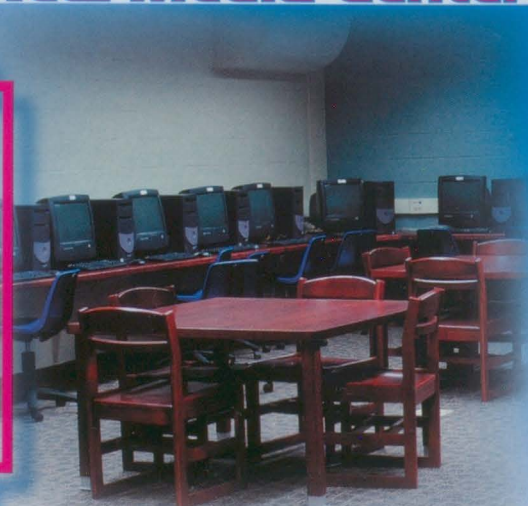

Meetings become better when they happen in the refurbished area of the 'new' media center. This space is available to students and all school related groups.

A Bright New Look For a New Media Center

The 'Path of Knowledge' leads to the media center front desk where Mr. Wing and his aides direct students to the best resources available. Using the 26 station computer lab is a tremendous asset for both staff and students. It is now set up for a more classroom like atmosphere.

A New Northern...

Armed and ready for freshmen questions, Lauren Totty ('08) sits with her group of future Huskies. For 20 minutes she gave them advice on not falling prey to the upperclassmen's pranks.

A Husky Link Beginning

Discussing future classes, Parker Branch ('10) questions Amanda Scott ('08) in the hallway. "The building tour helped me a lot. I would have been lost without it," says Parker.

Jumping right in, Mrs. Jan Eastman prepares lunch for the incoming Husky freshman. No detail was neglected in an effort to welcome the class of 2010.

Starting a new year, in a new school, with new people can sometimes be quite stressful. This school year though a program called the Husky Link has been started to help the incoming freshmen.

Did you know? Husky Link was started to give freshmen the chance to meet their peers, get advice from upperclassmen and teachers and learn a little something about what exactly our school is all about. Mr. Mossett, Mrs. French, Alina Langolf ('08), and Amy Kameron ('07) were just a few members of the group who founded the program. Joe Grant ('08), one of the student volunteers, thought that the program was a great idea. "I think the building tour was very helpful for them," Joe comments. "I know I would have benefited from it." The freshmen thought it was a great program too. "I really enjoyed attending Husky Link," says Amanda Stephenson ('10), "I learned so much from it. I am able to use the information that I've received on a day to day basis." Jennifer Prax ('10) also agrees. "I went to a small school and Northern was big and unfamiliar. I'm glad I got the chance to attend the program because it got me adjusted to high school." While the program wasn't perfect, over all, it was a great experience for the freshmen. Tiffany Drollinger ('07), a volunteer at Husky Link thought that there was a pretty good turn out for it's first year. "It gave freshmen more background to the school as well as giving them hope." Jeremy Davidson ('08) volunteered to make a movie about the groups and clubs Northern has to offer and to help put the new comers at ease. This was another great quality to Husky Link 2006. Hopefully Husky Link will continue to help incoming freshmen and be a yearly event at Port Huron Northern. While we all haven't had the chance to experience the program first hand, it seems to have been a huge success! Just ask the Huskies 2010!

Fall 2006

"I decided to be a part of the Tug-Of-War because they needed really, really strong people."

-Mike Mervich ('07)

"My job was to keep students, mostly Freshmen, away from the assembly supplies. So, I took it upon myself to start a security team to ensure the safety of our performers."

-Sean Loftus ('07)

"It felt pretty sweet winning Mardi Gras King because all my friends wanted me to win. Plus, I won with my girlfriend."

-Cory Zauner ('07)

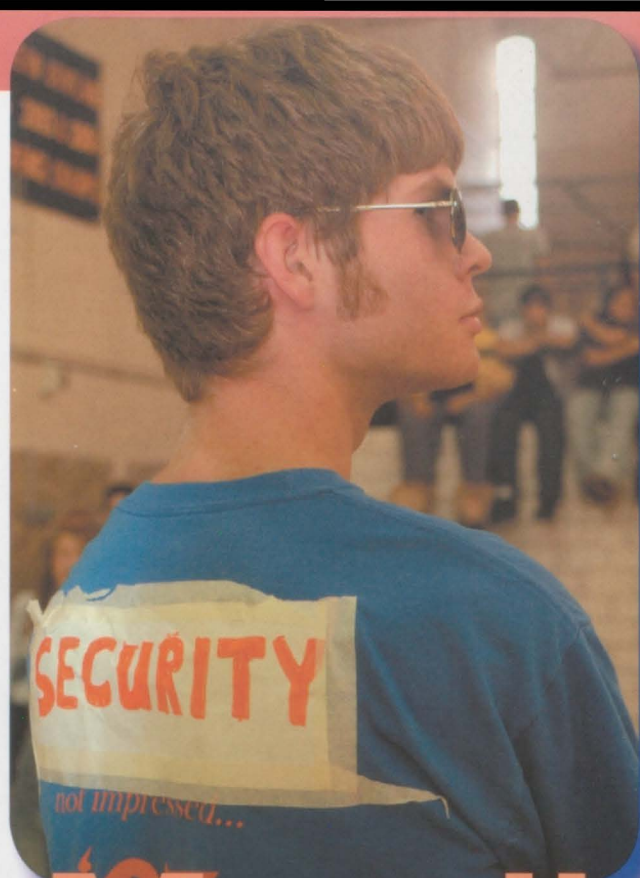

"Winning Mardi Gras Queen was amazing because I am involved in a lot of activities and the experience will stay with me my whole life."

-Rachel Brooks ('07)

"I don't lose at Tug-Of-War. The one we lost was declared a false start. We won the next two, therefore making us the winners. We're #1!"

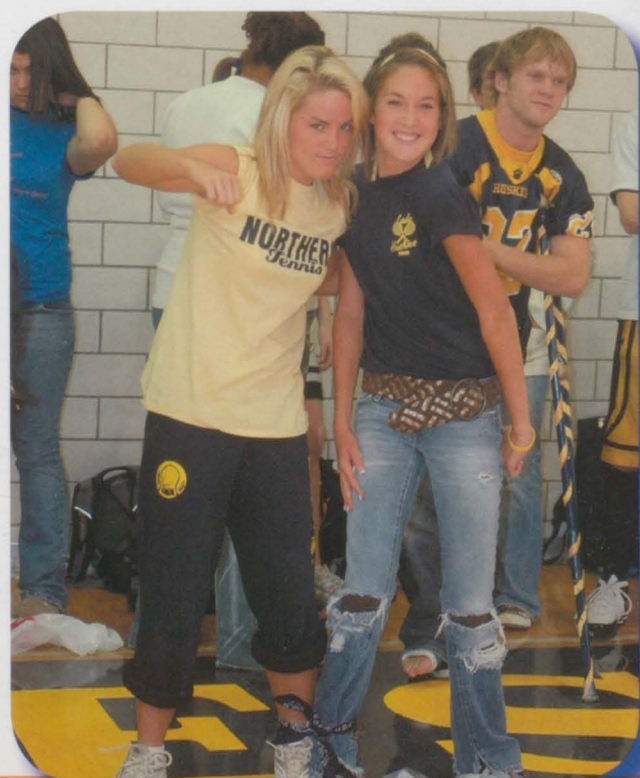

-Mr. Farnsworth

Mardi

"Although we didn't, trying to beat the Seniors was the best. It's exciting being in front of the whole school. I like the rush."

-Lauren Gilbert ('08)

"The best part about Spirit Week is being able to dress crazy without people judging you."

-Jessica Hughes ('07)

"The best part about Spirit Week is that you can go to the extremes of your personality while at school. It makes people who never knew you before give you that wide eyed shocked expressions and that's what they remember you by."

-Cody Viers ('07)

"The best part of Mardi Gras is definitely Spirit Week and of course the big game. Dressing up crazy with my buddies is a blast."

-Karlee Schulz ('07)

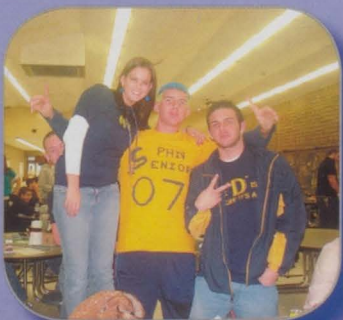

"I think that dressing up for spirit day is fun because people do crazy things! Its fun to act like a fool and do fun things in front of the school."

Kelli Corsetti ('08)

"The best part of Spirit Week is 'MisMatch Day' because my girl J-Lo and I worked it out! I just enjoyed dressing up everyday and going to the football game with all my girls! Love you guys!"

-Chelsea Elliot ('07)

"The best part of Spirit Week is you can just be all crazy and go all OUT! It's usually the only time through out the year the whole school gets crazy. Just screaming and yelling for your class gets your adrenaline going."

-Karissa MacIver ('07)

Gras

"Getting out of 6th Hour, competing against upperclassmen and getting to be part of the assembly was the best part of Mardi Gras."

-Alice Erickson ('10)

What advice

Enjoy everyday.
-Jon Dewey

Learn your place. If you're a freshman, don't challenge a senior. -Krysten Allen

Stay in school, and stay away from senioritis. -Nick Branch

Don't let your grades slip; it will hurt you later on. Just because you are an underclassmen doesn't mean that you will not be taken seriously. Don't be afraid to be yourself...that's what people will remember you for.
-Karla Gudino

Pay attention and study. -Jacob Dillon

Don't be afraid to question teachers and principals, but give them a chance to reply. -Christine Carr

Life's a garden, dig it!
-Elliot Chaltry

Have a good sense of humor. Seriously, it's all you need.
-Brad T. Perry

Good luck.
-Jeff Ingles

Don't slack on your homework, it'll come back to bite you later.

-Megan Fredendall

Don't worry about what people think about you. Don't bend to their standards. Live your life to the best of your abilities and simply follow your heart.
-Megan Bohm

Make new friends.
-Rachel Brooks

Nothing is too hard to handle. There are plenty of willing people who want you to graduate.
-Courtney Ross

Don't worry we still do coloring in 12th grade.
-Maggie Landon

Your time here goes quick, enjoy every moment you have.
-Dustin Farr

Don't be annoying.
-Brady Shagena

Just be yourself, and give yourself some credit for being who you are today. It really does pay off.
-Shauna Thompson

Don't think you're cool because you're a freshman. Stop burning out of the school parking lot in the car your parents bought for you. Express your opinion but be prepared to defend it.
-Kyle Christensen

Don't mess around for the first few years; if you want to be successful in life give it all you got. -Scott Ingles would you give to the underclassmen?

Don't talk back you'll get your chance when we leave. -Tiffany Drollinger

Have fun but don't slack off. It'll come back to bite you in the butt senior year. -Erika Cole

Don't waste your childhood. You'll miss it in the future. -Danielle Shuey

Don't trust the seniors.
-Lindsey Gintner

Enjoy it while it lasts. -Sunita Paknikar

You only go through high school once, make it great.
-Megan Minard

I would tell the underclassmen not to stress too much and to just have fun in high school.
-Mary Ann Gaglio

Don't take high school too seriously. It's not the real world. -Robert Smith

Don't be afraid of people. Do what you want to do, not what others tell you to do. -Jenna Rashid

Get involved and have fun because high school flies by. -Carol Dalrymple

To live it up! High school has some of the best years of your life and they fly by. -Bri Dusellier

Enjoy high school; it's the best time of your lives.
-Kolie Mancini

You are on the best way!
-Anne Froebel

Take part in as many school activities as you can. -Mitchelblake Sly

Do your work, and find somebody to spend your spare time with.
-Roger Paul

You'll have to do News points too.
-Jeremy Bales

Life is something you get one shot at, make it count. No amount of money could ever buy back a life wasted. -Michelle Bornais

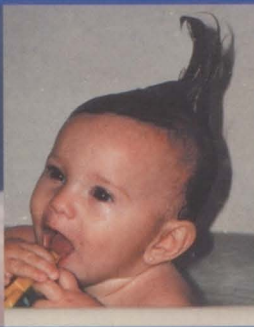

Respect your upperclassmen.
-Brian Higgins

Don't try to be cool to fit in. Do what you want to do, not what everyone else wants you to be like. Be yourself, be unique! -Josh Thompson

Be cool, stay in school.
-Ben Kalis

Don't worry about the past.
-Corey Riley

If you know what you want to do and that is what you truly want, you have to work hard for it, no exceptions.

Friday, October 27, 2006 American Government and Civics classes filed into the Performing Arts Center (PAC) with anticipation to participate in a conversation of the situation in Iraq followed by a question and answer segment with Michigan's U.S. Senator Carl Levin.

In front of an estimated 600 students Levin spoke of the situation in Iraq before answering the many questions students had. Levin is the senior Democrat on the Armed Services Committee and is a member of the Intelligence Committee.

"(This) means that a lot of my time is spent dealing with situations in Iraq...I've visited Iraq seven times, six since the start of the war," said Levin.

Levin told the audience that the only solution for Iraq, in his opinion, is a political settlement.

"In my judgment we should have not gone into Iraq now or later," said Levin.

For Levin a plan to remove troops from Iraq and to notify the Iraqi government of a removal which would begin at the end of the year would be a favorable idea.

"Now we're in a situation where do we stay the course like the president said or do we find another way. If something is not working you need to find a way to make changes to maximize your chances for success," said Levin.

He believes such a plan would force Iraq to take their country in their own hands and govern it themselves instead of using America's aid as a crutch.

"I would not have gone into Iraq. I would have stopped in Afghanistan. Except I would have chased Bin Laden, into Pakistan if necessary," remarked Levin in regards to questioning about entering Iraq. "I would have chased him with hot pursuit across the border between Afghanistan and Pakistan."

Levin may be critical of President Bush but he disagrees with Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez's accusations of Bush being "the devil."

While many questions were focused on Iraq, Levin also answered questions on controversial topics such as abortion and answered some questions on more surprising topics like his feelings on bike trails.

It was a dedication of a new mass transit facility with U.S. Senator Debbie Stabenow that brought Levin to Port Huron.

After his speech, Mr. Dahlke presented Senator Carl Levin with a Northern T-shirt.

Preparing for his Friday turn in, senior Cody Viers gets points for the Times Herald. Newspoints are a necessity for seniors.

Working on current issues, senior Chelsea Jones looks over her work in Mr. Crowell's classroom. Mr. Crowell teaches POD, Law and Justice and Civics.

Portfolio Day

Mrs. Rogers

"The students in my AP class are highly motivated and interested in whatever we're doing. There are many fine students in my regular classes, but there are also many who are not particularly motivated or interested."

In November the class of 2007 took an enjoyable couple days off POD. They let their ears rest from Ms. Murray's high pitched voice, eyes rest from Mr. Crowell's fashion sense, and let their skin stay warm out of Mrs. Rogers's freezing cold room. Instead of the torture, the seniors participated in the annual Portfolio Day! Many businesses there included participants from PHASD, Art Van, The Times Herald, Best Buy, along with many others. "Knowing the person who interview and having a great portfolio can give you better chances for you job," Billy Harder ('07). It prepared kids for what their future portfolios should be like, and gave the seniors advice on how to make it better to impress future companies. "My interviewer from the bank was very helpful and told me ways to make my portfolio more presentable," commented Brenna Lynch ('07). It was usually two to four kids at a table with two interviews, one each. Many students said it went quick and they had an awesome portfolio while others said their interview dragged on with a non-stop chatter box.

"The consultant from PH hospital talked quite a bit about different jobs I could get into too," remarked Elaine Gamalski ('07). Portfolio day was a nice day to not think about news points, and to see everyone all dolled up, and pressed to impress. Although according to Whitney Cash ('07), "3 inch heels are hell". Every ones wood brown portfolio contained a resume, references, certificates of fame and prize winning awards and/or appreciated work well done. It would be wise for everyone who participated to take the advice foresightedly and to prepare for what the businesses world has lying ahead.

Erica Arnold ('07)

Mr. Crowell

"I enjoy interacting with the kids as they mature and learn more about the world around them."

Ms. Murray

"Everyday is a new experience and the knowledge students' gain is phenomenal. We are able to interact in a way that allows students to develop their belief in a thoughtful and respectful way."

Health

Changes

Let's talk about .... Health! As you may know, health is a mandatory class. It helps to inform you on what to expect in your future and how to handle issues regarding your physical well-being. Mr. Farnsworth has been teaching here at Northern for a considerable time and has developed many different ways to teach you about what he describes as "personal health assessment and responsible decision-making". Many of his students find his class to be informative, entertaining, and worthwhile. "I like health because 'Farns' makes it fun," said Jeff Jagodzinski ('09). Students like the class for a variety of reasons. "I thought it was best when we had guest speakers," Courtney Ichenberg ('09) reflected.

It's a great combination of good teaching, important subject matter, and hands-on learning. Health class not only impacts young adults today, but also will be a vital part of student's abilities to make better decisions in their future.

By Brooke Cichoracki

"I don't really have an opinion about the healthy food here at Northern, because I eat pretty much the same thing everyday. I'm too afraid to try any of the food offered here."

-Ashley Bennett ('09)

"I think the healthier food offered here is good for us in the long run. I've eaten the school food maybe twice this year, but I typically eat healthy because it's better."

-Rachel Kohanov ('10)

"I think the new healthy food here is a bad idea because I think if you want to eat unhealthy food, it's your choice. If you want to eat lard, eat lard. If you want to eat carrots, eat carrots."

-Will Rogers ('07)

Instructing his class on things such as healthy living and sex education, Mr. Farnsworth has been the Health teacher here at Northern for BLANK years. Mr. Farnsworth is also the advisor for the T.A.T.U (Teens Against Tobacco Use) club.

An apple a day keeps the doctor away! Rachel Kohanov ('10) prefers her own healthy food over the schools.

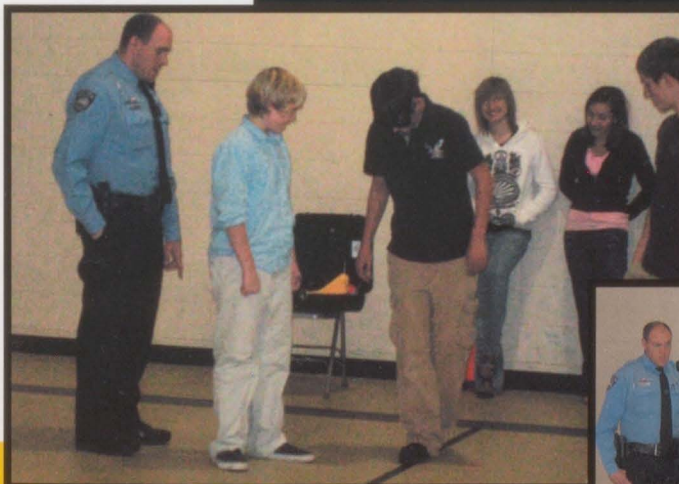

During lunch, Rachel Brooks ('07) tests out the new healthy food vending machine, in the lunch room. This new addition to the lunch room was added this year to give the students a more healthy choice.

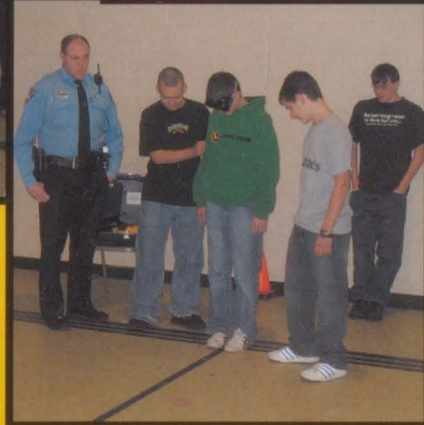

Trying to keep steady De-siree Slone ('08) controls the three wheeled bike. Every year the Health classes participate in Drunk Day. The students are given the option to wear Drunk Goggles and try to ride a three wheeled bike.

Working diligently in the school store, Ryan Mirlan ('09) assists Christine Mills ('09) by selling her a water. The school store has many different foods and beverages to keep Northern students and their cravings under control.

Officer Steve Harrington watches as, Matt Thomas ('10) wears his beer goggles. Students were asked to know what it is like to be drunk and to know the consequences.

While participating in health class, Adam Dusellier ('10) is prepared to attempt to walk in a straight line while wearing "beer Goggles." Police officers came into teach students that its not a fun time if you drunk.

History & Civics

Freshman year, the beginner year, the year of "must take" classes. Like for example Gym, Health, or your favorite Civics. It's mandatory to take Civics because it only prepares you for your next years to come. Although you have much to learn, like your presidents, people in the house, and their duties, index cards do become your best friend.

Not only do you take Civics, but also with your sophomore year comes American History, where you learn about past wars, leaders and rulers, and your States. Although three men teach American History, it is no "baby" to take.

So Civics, American History, then comes your junior year, the optional year. Most students choose to take World History, in which you learn a lot about your past generations and how life and people evolved today, all the way from the Neanderthal years. Projects make up a lot of this class, which can make it more interesting. Not only can you take this but they also have an A.P class for those who want the greater challenge. Or, you can take Michigan History, learn about your state and its past.

Maybe you don't really like some of these classes, but either it's mandatory, or you'll give it a shot and say "Hey, this isn't so bad, after all."

By Brooke Cichoracki

"I like POD the best because you get to argue with people. In POD you have to express your opinions and I am very opinionated."

Jamie Leslie ('07)

"I like American History because it's a little more about war things, which I'm interested in and not economics."

Dylan Crorey ('09)

"I like American history better than Civics because I like Mr. Dickinson. I also enjoyed learning about the wars."

Andrew McGrath ('09)

"I like POD the best, because you can relate it to real day to day life."

Trista Parmann ('07)

"I like American History because it's a little more about war, things which I'm interested in, and not economics."

Robbie Khabbaz ('08)

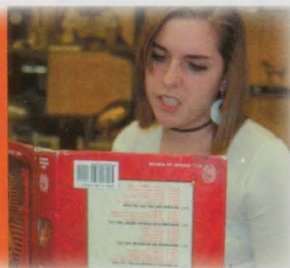

"I really liked American History because it was really gruesome, like the Holocaust. Not to mention, I really liked my teacher, Mr. Dickinson."

Emily Majeske ('07)

"American History is the best because we sang 'We Didn't Start the Fire', plus I really liked my teacher, Mr. Dickinson."

Caitlin Kemp ('07)

"I liked American History because I know a lot about the wars."

Mark Taylor ('09)

Working on their assignment, sophomores Nicole Dubs and Krystal Vermeulen sit together in Mr. Artman's AP American History class. Mr. Artman is the only AP American History Teacher.

Leaning over for the full effect, Mr. Davis questions Brad Ward ('08) in World History. Mr. Davis teaches both World and American history, and is also a football coach.

What year would you offer Civics, American History & POD?

"I would move POD to Junior year, so Senior year would be just a relaxing year."

-Brendan Lynch ('07)

"I would keep Civics a Freshmen class, offer World History Sophomore year, and move American History to Junior year. I'd keep POD a senior class, but have half the amount of Newpoints."

-Alex Moran ('07)

"I would keep all the classes in the same order because that's the way I like it."

Reaching up to capture the essence of his character, Billy Harder ('07) gives an amazing performance during Hello Dolly.

With a look of intense shock, Eric Griffin ('07) and his co-star Katrina Naz ('06) shoot for Broadway in the Drama Club's production of Hello Dolly.

Drama Dictionary

Auditions: Nerve racking, heart racing experience. Survive; and be in a great show. This year's plays included "10X10," composed of 10 short 10 minute plays, and "Grease."

Practice: Something that's required to putting on a good show, but tedious, every day except for Friday's. "No-show, No-Part-In-Grease,"-Kay Yurgens (director of both "10X10," and "Grease").

Tech-Week: The most drama filled time during drama; the week leading up to Opening Night, where the tech people arrive, and the pressure starts to boil, to pull the show together.

Props: Make believe parts of the play that don't show up until Opening Night (i.e. a burger that's laid out behind stage two hours prior to the show, and then eaten on stage, without the actor showing any difference).

Lines: The last thing to fall into place during Tech-Week, just moments before Opening Curtain.

Opening Night: The most nerve-racking night during a play; this night could determine the outcome of the mood of everyone involved, during the rest of the show.

Closing Curtain: Accomplishment; usually met with large shouts of excitement on stage.

Final Performance: For some, this may mean the last time you'll ever act on the same stage with the people you've been with for as many as four years, by going off to college. Others might say that it's an appropriate send-off to a play and a sure fire way to get others to perform in next years play.

Life: Theater and the friends you've made through Drama.

Behind the scenes, Cody Viers ('07) demonstrates what it takes to run the stage. Backstage, is just as important as the actors performing, when it comes to pulling off a successful theater production.

While making way for the drama club, the waiters from Hello Dolly move aside in respect for the head waiter, Mike Wilkinson ('06). The scene led all the way up to a song called, The Waiter's Gallop, the biggest dance number in the whole play.

Tensions and emotions ran high, but the jazz band kept playing, while the music filled the air in the gym as it touched our mortal cerebellums. The jazz band holds itself to a very high standard when it comes to performances; they practice constantly to ensure a better performance. "We go through chord progression, and prepare for performances that we do," said Jack Coury on practicing in Jazz Band.

Sprinting to reach a Marysville player, Patrick Knapp ('09) and Paul Eschenburg ('09) try their best to catch him.

Lengthening his stride, Colby Brooks ('09) makes an effort to get away from the other team. "I prepare for football by wrestling, lifting and I run a little," said Colby.

Tackling a Marysville player, Paul Eschenburg ('09) brings down the ball carrier. Paul's favorite memory was the Sterling Heights game, "When we came together and beat the other team."

Taking down an opponent, Zach Martel ('09) reassures that the defense is at its best. Zach was positioned at defense line and as a kicker.

Darting away from an opponent, Joe Matthews ('09) challenges his abilities. "My favorite aspect of football is the offense, because you get to run the ball and score touchdowns," said Joe.

Rethinking his original plan, Taylor Armstrong ('10), backtracks to avoid the other players.

Breaking away from the crowd, Brandon Burtwell ('10) strives to score. "My favorite memory was the hard practices because they were hard and they made us stronger," stated Brandon.

Finding an opening, Anthony Abu-Gamin ('10) punts the ball down the field in an attempt to gain yards.

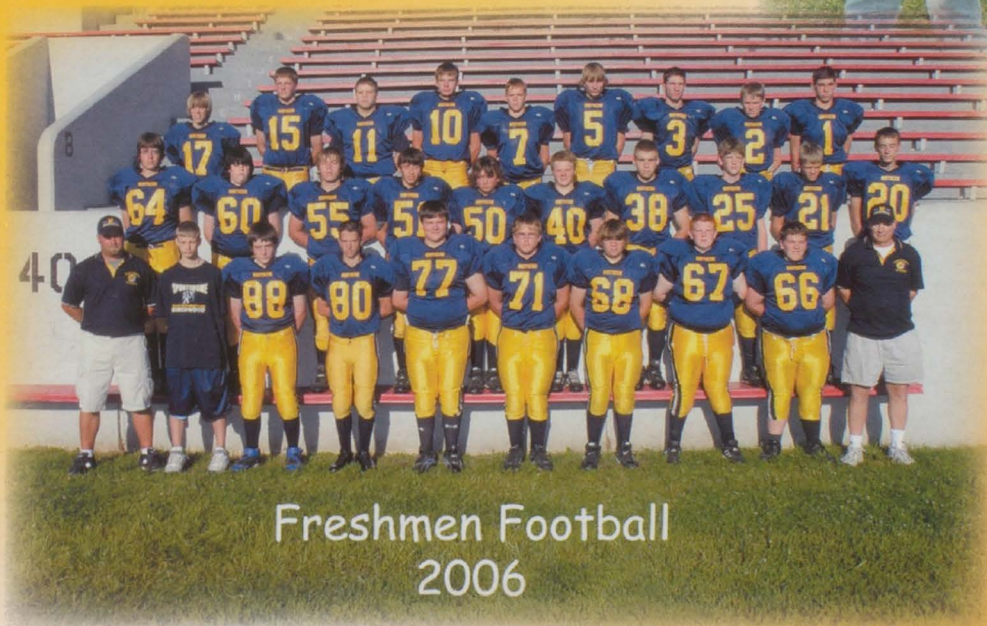

Looking for an opening the line, Nickolas Kendrick ('10) sprints away from a Cousino player.

Passing the ball after a rebound, Brooke Petho ('08) hopes that her teammate reacts quickly. Brooke played position two, "My goal was to have a better shot, I prepare by practicing everyday," she explained.

Aiming for a point Carlia Canto ('10) uses a high arcing shot to hit "nothing but net". Carlia was the only freshman on the Varsity team, she played the guard position.

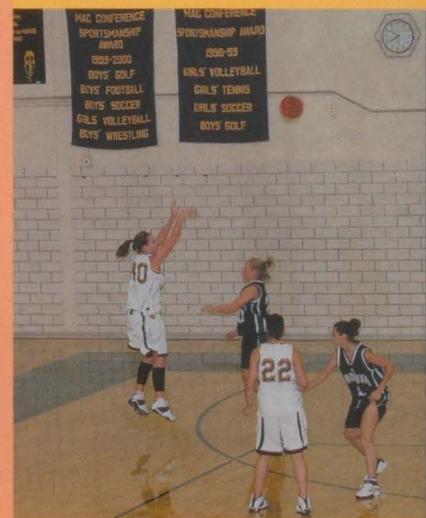

Shooting for the hoop, Rachel Meharg ('07) maintains her focus as well as the other players. "This year's highlight was playing PH, against all of my old teammates and coaches," said Rachel.

Protecting the ball from two opponents, Brianna Dusellier ('07) launches the basketball for another 3-pointer. "A goal that I set for myself this year was to help my team win districts and to become a better basketball player," said Brianna.

Applying her skills in the court, Abby Schlaegel ('07) avoids a block from Dakota. Abby had 220 points throughout the season.

Intense Drops

Trying to recapture the ball for Northern, Jessica Westrick('10) holds on tight. "I was a guard and wing. Guard brings the ball up and the wing takes plays."

"Basketball is a contact sport, so there is never a dull moment," stated Megan Wiley ('10). Competing against Dakota Megan goes for a free shot.

Avoiding two Dakota players, Shelbi Baker ('09) dribbles between them, with Katie Patterson ('09) waiting to offer assistance. Both players returned for a second year.

Using the skills that she learned from the open gyms, Catherine Goetze ('09) dodges an opponent's guard. "We started practicing 2 weeks before school started. I also went to two basketball camps. One was at MSU and we went as a team," said Catherine.

Guarding the basket, Diane Kurkowski ('10) looks for an opportunity to steal the ball.

Running up the court, Catherine Goetze ('09) takes advantage of an open lane. This is Catherine's second year on JV.

Setting the final pace, Mitch Sly begins to prepare for the last mile. Mitch placed 16th place in the Marine City Invite contributing to the team. The boys finished 5th place out of 15 schools.

Setting an example for his team, Coach Mannlein runs the open JV Marysville Invite.

Being carried as the true captain by Jim Rumley ('07), Bill Ruch ('07) steals the spotlight. Coach Mannlein is also being carried, the team had an amazing season with an overall record of 11-2.

Reaching towards the end, Karla Gudino ('07) keeps distance from a St. Clair runner. Karla finished first for the team throughout the season and she was also captain.

Standing along with the top 30 finishers at the Marine City Invite, Shemal Shaw ('08) [top row], Mitch Sly ('07) [middle row] and Andrew Gaul ('08) [bottom row] congratulate all the runners. The Marine City Invite was the first invitational of the season.

Running along with a partner, Racheal Linder ('08) begins to see the right turn that would lead her to the chute. This was Racheal's third year with the team.

Crossing the finish line after an exhausting 5K, Chrissy Fredendall ('07) begins to slow down as she approaches the official. Chrissy was a consistent 2nd team finisher as well as the Co-Captain.

Andrew Gaul

Imagine this, running along with 245 runners all with the same objectives, to lead the pack, to receive your personal best, feeling the cold winds and some raindrops hit you, losing feeling of your body and only being able to feel a cramp because of your breathing. Can you handle that? Not too many people could, but here is Andrew Gaul this year's Cross Country member who qualified to states with the time of 17:34 at Regional Division 1, held at Goodells Park.

Andrew led the team through every meet, receiving the Most Valuable Runner award and his third Varsity letter. "I was happy, it was overwhelming and I cried," this is what Andrew Gaul had to say after competing at States. States were held at the Michigan International Speedway on November 4th. He placed 99th place out of 245 runners, receiving a time of 16:38.5 as well. "Cross Country tests my limits," Andrew stated, "I had to train really hard and place top 15 at Regionals."

They are all returning members and have previously gone to states. "I enjoy playing golf at nice courses, its an aspect that I like about the sport," said Matt.

Insight to Divisions

Starting of the season with a young team along with three seniors, the boys' golf maintained a steady season. Their season ended with challenging weather. Their Divisions meet was held back for a week due to the snow and wind conditions. The team competed at the Stony Creek Golf Club on a Monday afternoon, overall the scored 359 only two points behind Utica.

Maintaining his focus upon the ball and its direction, Johnny Ojzky ('07) begins to gently hit it. "I trained by going to many summer tournaments and practiced at the golf club every day," stated Johnny, he also received a BWJGA Golf Scholarship during the 2006 golf season.

Watching with high hopes the strength of his hit, Chris Hopper ('10) awaits for a close landing to a whole on one. This was Chris's first year in the golf team.

"I thought it would be really fun to do Airband, especially with the girls I did it with. They made it hilarious. We thought it would be funny to be girls dressing as guys as the best band ever!"

Kelsey Slowinski ('07)

"The reason we did Airband was because we all wanted to make a really sweet dance and we thought it would be fun. All of it was the best part baby!"

Alex Moran ('07)

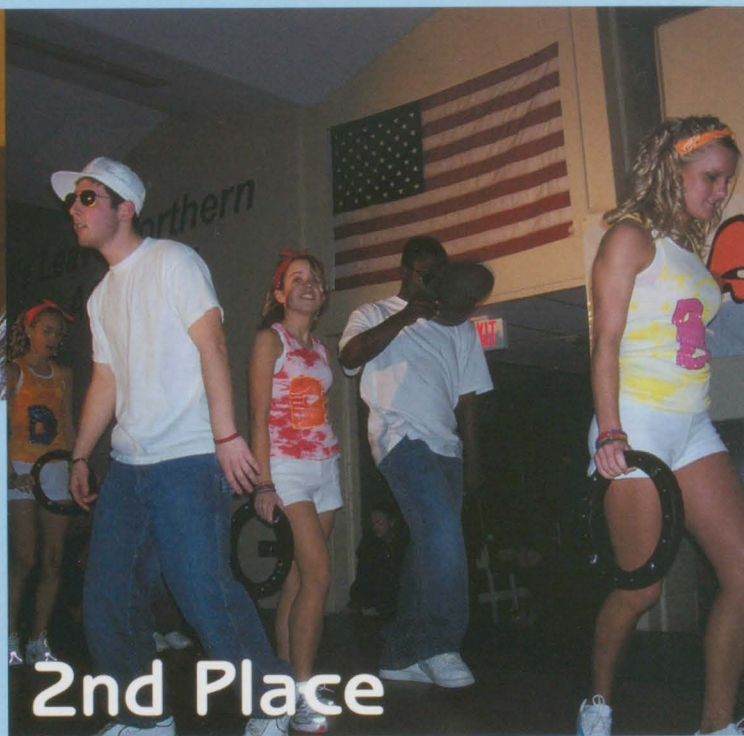

"I chose to do Airband because I thought it would be fun for our last year of high school. Being on stage in front of everyone and performing was my favorite part."

Rachel Allen ('06)

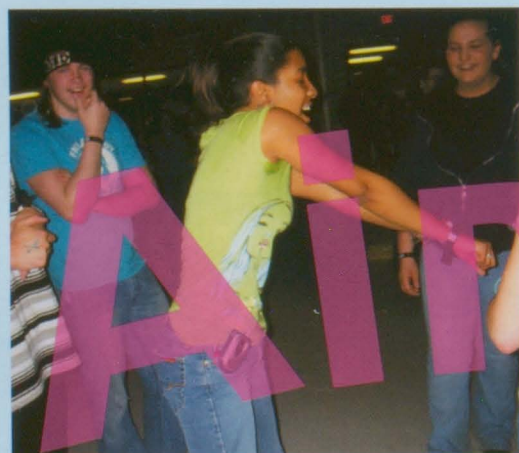

"We decided together which act to do and we thought it was a good thing which met all the requirements that was needed to take part in show. I liked the part given to me, I thought I was really fit for that role."

Kofi Opuku ('06)

2nd Place

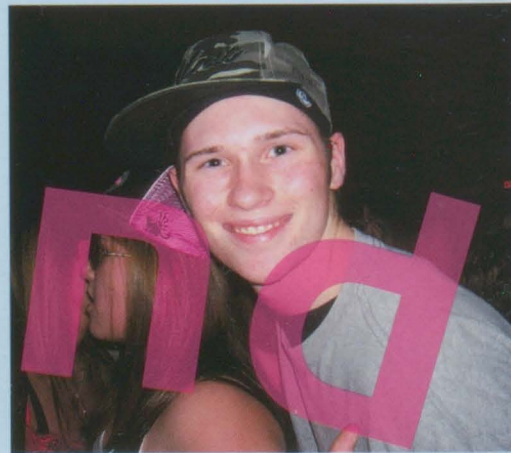

"All the performances were really original and hilarious, N'SYNC was definitely 'In Sync.' I thought it was pretty sweet that channel 95.5 DJ'd the dance."

Brandon Swigart ('07)

"I think its a good idea to have the Snow Dance and Airband together because the dance portion gets everyone pumped up for the actual performances."

Simone Stephens ('07)

"When 'Cracknamee' and I had the horses between our legs and I could literally hear the laughs from the crowd, that was my favorite part. It was also really funny when 'Big Nasty' Hayes took his shirt off. We thought we would get a lot of groupies for our stellar performance!"

Alex Ernst ('06)

"Sliding on my knees and ripping off my wife beater was my favorite part. It was extremely sexy/funny. I took part in Airband to impress all the ladies."

Ryan McNamee ('06)

3rd Place

"Airband was so fun. I thought I could portray Chris Farley and Steve could portray Patrick Swayze pretty good, and we wanted to do it. On the song 'Baby Let's Go,' I did violent rapid thrusts and the crowd loved it."

Mark Jarvis ('06)

"We did Airband because we thought it would be sweet and we chose Chippendales because it is a beloved skit. My favorite part was that it was my first time dancing on stage... let alone my first time dancing."

Steve Trask ('06)

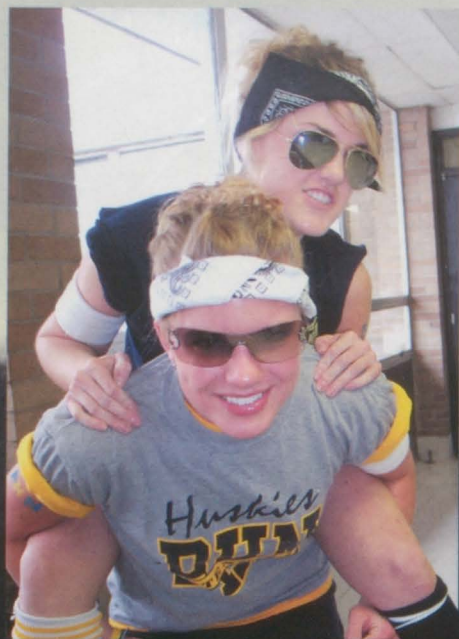

Heating up the show, David Fields ('06) keeps things interesting! Being so full of surprises, you never know what he could do next!

Stunning the crowd in an unforgettable performance, David Fields ('06), does it again as Britney Spears performing "Toxic".

4th Place

"The best part about Snow is the assembly, it was a blast! We get a chance to show how much school spirit we have!"

Lauren Gilbert ('08)

"The best part about blue and gold day was the games assembly, my friends and I got to put on paint and dress really funny!"

Katie Langolf ('08)

To add a little fun to the Snow assembly, Mike Scott ('06), Trista Parmann ('07), and Coleton Ulmer ('07) all boogie to the beat. The trio drove the crowd insane, leaving behind some pretty amazing memories.

Chasing the play, the girls of ('08) and ('09) participate in the chilly game of Snow Football. Switching things up from boys to girls football is an exciting way to have everyone get together and have fun!

Touchdown! The crowd cheers as the girls of ('08) make a victorious touchdown! Victory is a sweet thing when it is against your classmates.

"Being in and watching the games assembly is my favorite part of Snow. It was a lot of fun and exciting to be apart of."

Chad Coats ('07)

"The best Spirit Day was formal day! Getting to dress up and look pretty(er) than normal was a blast!"

Lauren Totty ('08)

"My favorite part about dressing up for Formal Day was that I got to wear my snazzy suit and I like to wear my snazzy suit."

Dylan Stank ('08)

"I felt spectacular about coming to school in a dress because it brought me closer to my feminine side. My favorite part was that I had the pleasure of stuffing my bra."

Brandon Gutierrez ('07)

"During College/Concert/T-shirt/Hat day we can represent! Show who we are and what college or bands we support."

Jordan Marsh ('09)

"I love participating in the Snow Games because it's really fun to play football with all your girlfriends rather than just watching. Snow 2006 probably won't compare to Snow 2007. I can imagine how much fun us Senior girls will have out on that field."

Ashleigh Fagan ('07)

"Snow Football is my favorite school activity; I love the atmosphere and competition!"

Jessica Loxton ('07)

"My favorite part of Snow was the half time show that WORW put on! It was really a lot of fun and the music was off the chain!"

Kevin Totty ('06)

"My favorite part of Snow was beating the seniors, and the teachers in Tug-of-War. Then winning the whole Tug-of-War challenge."

Jamie West ('08)

Snow

What is the most important thing you learned throughout high school?

Explore new things.

-Karissa MacIver

To try new things and to make as many friends as possible.

-Alicia Zerrer

It's going to be a tough world.

-Ross Thomas

Don't procrastinate! It will come back to haunt you!

-Rachel Kudzia

Friendship is an important part of life. Not being popular, but being around people who care about you and want you to be happy, that's the key.

-Stacey Bennett

The most important thing I've learned through high school is to really strive hard to pass all of your classes so you don't have to repeat the same classes your senior year with freshman.

-Terin Schrouder

If you try hard you'll get an A in any class. Effort goes a long way.

-Alan Horn

Try your hardest to achieve your best.

-Ashlyn Wayne

Do as much as you can, it goes by fast. Get Mr. Crowell for POD.

-Brooklyn Brandl

Be yourself, do homework. Stay away from drama.

-Gordon Inch

It's OK to be who you are.

-Rebekah Elsner

Keep your friends close and your enemies closer!

-Megann Collins

Drama is awesome and fake people are great.

-Nick Reed

Don't get into other people's business. Do your own thing and accomplish what you want done.

-Brittany VanRaaphorst

Hard work pays off. Also, that you have to live for the moment.

-George Nakhleh

Don't get caught up in high school drama.

-Zack Marsack

Don't be afraid to put yourself out there. Northern has a lot of great people that are worth getting to know.

-Chrissy Fredendall

You friends and the people that love you will always be there for you.

-Megan Cain

There are a lot of fake people here.

-Scott Mann

Just be yourself, don't change for anybody.

-Kyle Guthrie

Varsity Soccer.

-Brandon Swigart

To do the work ASAP.

-Erik Perkins

The most important thing I learned was how to study. I learned how to figure out what I knew well, and what I still need to work on.

-Sarrah Demashkieh

I learned that nothing is so important that you can't find time to smile or laugh. Even if you don't feel like it, it will make you feel better.

-Jordan Snellenberger

I learned people are not always your friends.

-Abby Schlaegel

Don't let your heart take over what you're going to do with your life.

-Katie Fleming

Your friends will help you if you let them.

-Keri Schmidt

Do not go to McDonalds during school hours.

Winter Babies

Finally, the time has come to say good-bye to the place we know and love as high school. As we entered those double doors four years ago as freshman, it seemed like senior year was in the never approaching future. Now that it's here, and that last and final turn-in for News points is in our past, we can't help but wonder why and how the years flew by so fast. Maybe it was the Varsity football games under the Friday night lights, or the parties people went to that were still being talked about the following week. Or maybe it was shouting in the middle of the Jamizzone at basketball games, or even quite possibly, that last dance at prom with someone special. What ever your memories may be, they will always remain bustling throughout the halls of Northern long after our legacy has been left.

Everyone has made their long lasting mark on this school, whether it be in sports, National Honor Society, having your own program on WORW 91.9, or even having that one silly picture in the yearbook that you will always laugh at. Every person has made their impression here.

What is yours made of?

We may not know what the future holds for us, but each and every person shall embrace it with full force when the time comes. That time is now here. The time to move on in our lives to bigger and better opportunities that will shape us into the beings we are about to become. Some may change the world for the better, and others will find a way to make at least one person's life breathe easier. We hold the power to leave a positive impact on the world around us, as well as our own high school.

For years, we have watched each other grow and prosper into mature young adults, and now it's all over in the mere blink of an eye.

Hope. Dream. Believe.

You can be anything you destine to be.

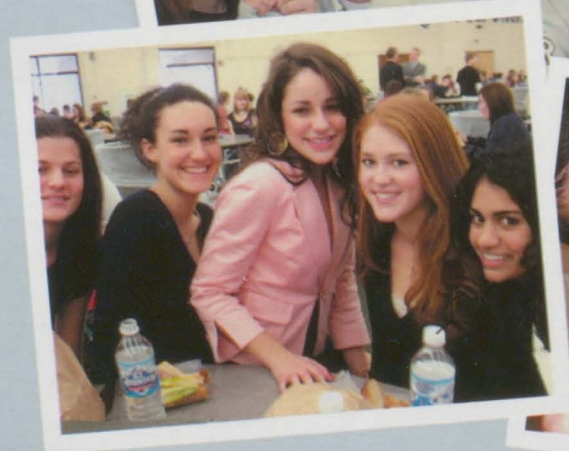

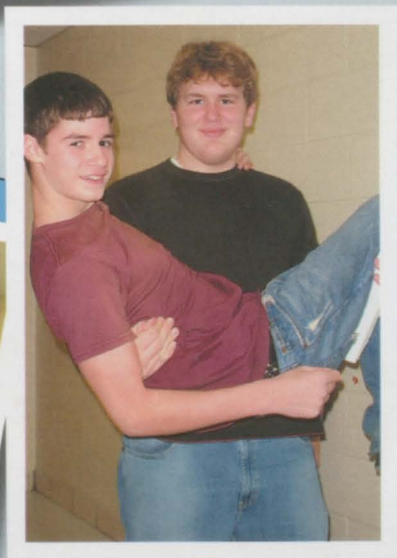

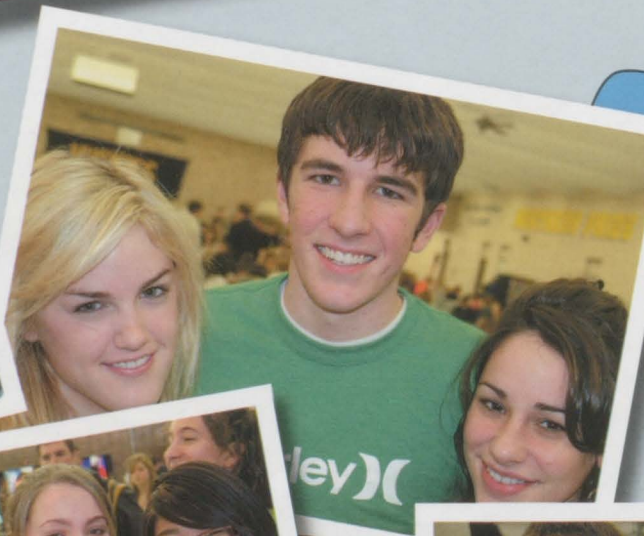

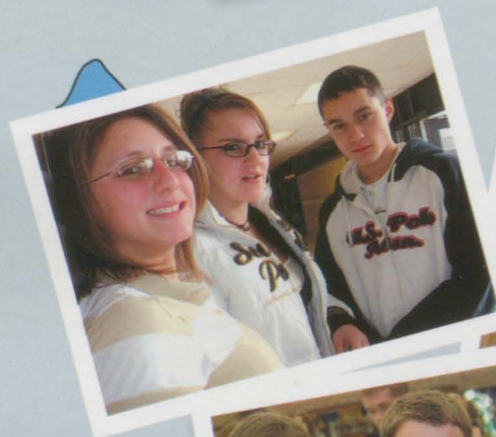

Congratulations Class of 2007...we did it!

WHERE'S WAGNER?

The White Canvas

Art is expressed in many unique ways. It takes determination, creativity, imagination, emotion, self experience, feeling and an inspiration to compose such a thing as it. Fortunately, here at Northern, there are many artistic students who are able to create such breathtaking pieces. Taylor Manuillow ('07) has painted a few outstanding murals for Mr. Davis and Mr. LaBelle's classrooms. Let these murals be an inspiration to you, many to come, and an inspiration to the form of art.

Math

Hey Larry do you know what Number 5 is?

Here at Northern there are over 1600 students that wander these hallways everyday. All of which are here to achieve knowledge and graduate. Not only do you learn how to write an interesting paper or learn about our history, but we all have that subject that most students seem to fear; math. We've all transitioned from counting to 100 in kindergarten, to learning and applying the Pythagorean Theorem, and various other complicated equations.

In order to graduate you must successfully finish each math class that you have chosen, you must take up to 3 years of math classes. Most Universities tend to want high school students to take 4 years; it only prepares you and helps you out in the bigger years to come, pretty much the future! Sometimes though, math isn't as easy as many of us thought.

There are many different theories as to why some students find math a lot harder than others. "Part of it is mathematics, it's a subjective, there's only one answer, and either students except that and find it easy or for others it may come a little harder," Ms. Schleicher commented.

So yeah it may be a little different and something that some will have to work on, but in the long run it helps you out; especially depending on what future job you would like to accomplish. Math is the study of the measurement, properties and relationships of quantities and sets, using numbers and symbols. You have many great teachers that are meant to teach what they do, because their good at what they do. Math is something everyone should take it's only the best consequence there is. If you don't, you're lost!

No Math = No Future!

-Brooke Cichoracki

+ Do YOU like math? +

"I don't like math because it's hard, and I don't like having to figure out a math problem that I'll never use in my life."

-Mr. Cook

While doing his Homework, Brett Mayor works hard to finish his math assignment he has. "Calculus is a total different subject than any other one. It really makes you think." Brett ('07) replied.

"The most rewarding thing about teaching is getting to know young adults and influencing their education."

-Mrs. Carleton

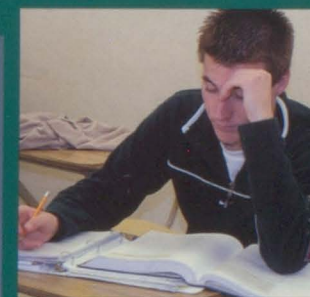

"Most days, I think I have the best job ever. Who else gets such amazing job variety everyday? Who else gets to spend everyday with the future of our world? Plus, shouldn't everyone get snow days once in a while?"

Ms. Schleicher

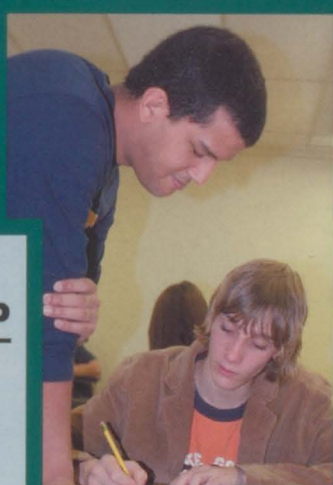

"The most rewarding thing about teaching is helping student succeed in academics and athletics in a way that will prepare them for the real world."

-Ms. Roman

Here for his first year, Mr. Cook helps Tom Holburt ('09) with his math assignment given. Mr. Cook has substituted many times here at Northern for many different math classes.

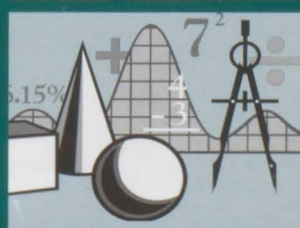

In Ms. Carleton's Math class, Shaina Sherbutt ('09) and Hillary Miller ('09) finish their assignment as they listen to Ms. Carleton lecture on equations that will be learned.

The Necessity

English, English, English. Since you were a child, English, language and writing classes were always necessary, and you've always had to take them; especially when it's pretty important to have in your life.

Northern has many great opportunities to become more experienced in the English industry. To be able to accomplish your English part of your degree you must take it for at least three years. But in the college perspective they prefer all four years. It helps you out in the long run for your up and coming university years.

There are eight English or English related classes that you are able to take. Even though you may not agree, like, or even want to pursue as a career in, you must take it. An normally when your done taking all your years of it, in the end you want to say, "It wasn't as bad as I thought!"

-Brooke Cichoracki

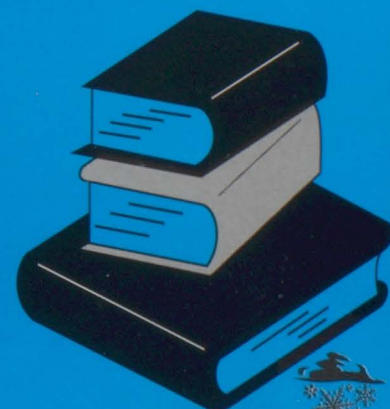

"I think freshmen lit is more fun, there isn't as much work. The quality of the work that we get is a lot better too."

-Marisaa Hall ('10)

"The freshmen lit class is easier than 8th grade lit. Mrs. Reinke is a lot nicer than my other teachers too."

Getting the troops ready for the next days meet at Cros-Lex, Ms. Murray gives them a pep talk about how everything is going to go down. The team has done an excellent job and continues to excel even until this day.

Looking suave and sharp, Eric Griffin ('07), Asif Haq ('08), and Andrew Kercher ('07) discuss the topics of Quiz Bowl at an after school meeting. "I was preparing for our quiz bowl game that day at Cros-Lex," said Andrew Kercher. And a good thing it was too! The team ended up winning that match and continued to dominate other teams.

At Quiz Bowl practice, Kelson Thomas ('10) paused to take a quick pic before he gets back to work, learning all he has to, to improve the teams chances of winning. For Quiz Bowl, practice makes perfect, and it's members like Kelson Thomas who are among the dedicated few to be in Quiz Bowl.

With help from a friend, Chad Hughes ('10) looks over assignments. The members of the club often work in pairs.

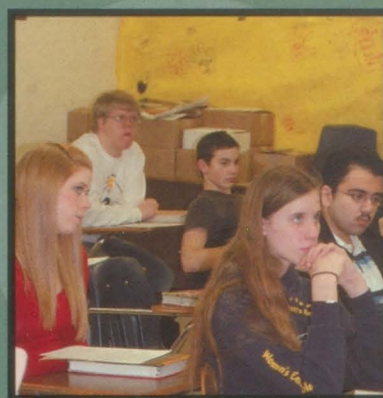

Revising the script of the movie, Jeremy Davidson ('08) and Mrs. Maggs use their time wisely. Jeremy had envisioned the idea of a group at Northern making their own movie during his sophomore year in high school, and then worked toward his goal, making it a huge success this year.

Ready to talk, Bill Koop ('10) and Ryan Tibble ('10) raise their hands with enthusiasm during a Film Club meeting. The Film Club offers an opportunity to get in front, or get behind the camera to work in a feature film put on by Northern students.

Listening intuitively as Rahim Merchant ('07) talks at a SHA meeting, Brandy Vanloo ('09), Krystal Vermeulen ('09), Julia Jowett ('07), Jeff Dell ('08) and Robby Colgan ('07) learn how to teach students in middle school healthy choices. The students, "learned how to teach younger students how to prevent diabetes and make healthier choices," said Krystal Vermeulen.

With a lot on their minds, Sarah Gerlach ('09), Kaitlyn Heering ('07), Crystal Smith ('09), Diane Brown ('07), and Jennifer Maxwell ('08) participate in a 'Students For A Healthy America' meeting. The group tries to plan a meeting every week during the school year.

Showing their harmony as singers and classmates, the mixed chorus performs at a variety of venues outside the school as well as inside.

The guys of Mens Ensemble were back by popular demand as they sang "My Girl" at the Holiday Assembly.

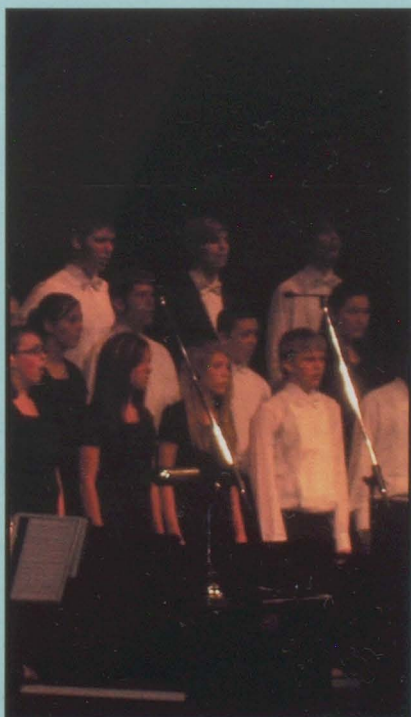

Anticipating their part, Tim Frasier ('07) and Chelsea Shank ('07) prepare to contribute their voices to the blend that is the choir's trademark.

Playing the music for Mens Ensemble, Mr. Dwyer and his guitar group show the school what they've got. The guitar group is a new club that got started this year by Mr. Dwyer. "(Dave Dennis, Dr. Lew, and Mr. Dwyer) just heard from the students that there was an interest and we figured we'd give them an opportunity. In fact, it was Mr. Mossett who asked if I was interested in creating the group," said Mr. Dwyer.

During the Holiday Concert in the Acheson Performing Arts Center, the choir students sang some of their favorite holiday tunes. The Christmas Choir Concert was a spectacular one hour line up of great singing and fun.

Projecting and belting their lungs out, the Mens Ensemble performs LIVE at the Christmas Assembly. The guys had learned two pieces entitled, "Please Kind Sir," and, "My Girl."

Singing out the tune, "My Girl," the Mens Ensemble does an awesome job in singing this classic rock song. Mrs. Ketchman chose the song for the boys to sing during the Christmas Concert held for the school.

LET IT SNOW... LET IT SNOW... LET IT SNOW...

By: Eric Ruelle

November came and went with only a few snow showers being recorded over Port Huron soil. Just like November, December followed the same routine and continued to rain instead of accumulating on the ground. Even on December 25th, our hopes of a white Christmas were dashed, with only a low temperature of only 26°F.

This posed a problem for our thrill seeking adventurers in the Ski Club. Without any snow, they weren't able to hit the slopes, on one of their usual hotspots, Mount Holly, this would be a wasted trip although, amounting to only a few hours of good skiing or snowboarding, had Mr. Crowell, the advisor, decided to plan a trip. Not until mid January had the skies closed up and large amounts of snow fell to the ground.

Many of the members joined the Ski Club for the sole purpose in participating in the annual Trip of the Year two years ago when the club visited Treetops Resort in Northern Michigan.

Last year, the Ski Club went to Crystal Mountain in Thompsonville, Michigan, and this year, Mr. Crowell scheduled a reprise trip to Crystal. "Crystal Mountain has some very accessible slopes. It is a challenge for all levels of skiers," said Mr. Crowell on the reason why he chose to return.

Although the Ski Club wasn't as active this year as they were the previous years, members and some others are hoping for an early winter so they can make up for what this year had lacked in snowy bliss.

Holding on tight to his opponent's ankle Tyler Busdicker ('07) tries to break down his opponent. "My pre-season training involved sumo wrestling. I entered the season weighing 254 lbs. but now i weight 178.3 lbs after my strick salt tablet diet and river dancing aerobic workout," stated Tyler.

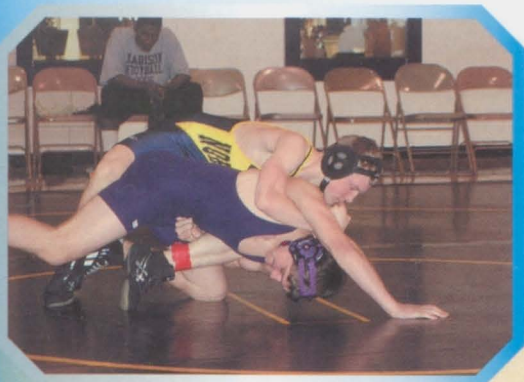

Trying to complete a one and one-half Robert Kolman ('10) from Centerline. "I prepared by running everyday and getting in shape. I wrestled in the 125 lbs weight class, and my favorite way to pin an opponent is by putting them in a half," explained Robert.

Pinning his opponent Lorenzo Davis from Centerline Tyler Schneider ('10) completes a head and arm lock within 3:28 minutes.

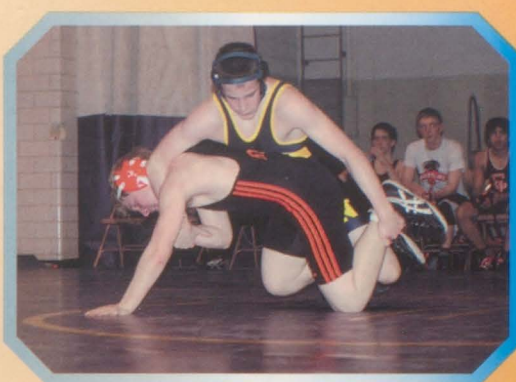

Turning his opponent Austin Groner to keep down his shoulder, Colby Brooks ('09) pulls through for the team at the Blue Water Classics. This was Colby's second year with the team and he mainly wrestled within the 152 lbs. weight classes.

Beginning his one and one-half move, Aaron Smith ('09) focuses on breaking his opponent's strength. Aaron pinned his opponent with a time of 2:33. "I wrestled in the 130 weight class and I went to CMU wrestling camp to prepare for the season," said Aaron.

Breaking his opponent's base down, Derek Thompson ('09) begins the match with a strong start. "I like wrestling, the whole thing, you get in shape and the experience in general," said Derek who wrestles in the 145 weight class.

Holdig his opponent's shoulders to the mat, Brady Shagena ('07) uses full force to hold him down with a stiff position. Brady has been wrestling varsity since his freshman year.

Turning to another side for easier pin, Mikw Billette ('08) maintains his opponent Bill Philip's shoulders down. Mike pinned his opponent within 2:57, in wrestling the opponent's shoulders are the center of gravity.

Keeping balance as she skates gently, Brittany Fullgrapp ('08) competes at the P.H. Edith Scheonrock '07 Competition. The competition lasted for two days and allowed all age groups to compete. "I skate all year round, including training in St. Clair Shores. I skate over 11 hrs. a week, plus work out," said Brittany about her '06-'07 season.

Taking the spotlight from the Ice Show at McMorran, Kim Thomas ('07) uses her arms to maintain a balance that will not fail her. Kim has been skating for PHN since her freshman year, "I have been skating for 15 years. My sister and I started skating to use some energy and I have fallen in love with this sport and everyone involved with it," stated Kim.

This year's theme "IN TODAY'S FORECAST BLUE AND GOLD" was chosen to mirror the randomness of high school at Northern with the weather. The weather symbols at the foot of each page were not only a tie-in to the theme as a reminder of how unpredictable the weather can be, but also to keep the book organized amid the seasons, which was a new arrangement of the sections for the 2006-2007 book in addition to ALL COLOR pages. This year's editorial staff consisted of sixteen editors including Editors-in-Chief Paul Glyshaw and Tom Smith and Section Editors Brooke Cichoracki, Jeremy Davidson, Chelsea DuPree, Katlin Gostinger, Karla Gudino, Shaina Lavati, Tiffany Meyers, Amy Miller, Kelcey Ross, Eric Ruelle, Mallory Schie-man, Taylour Senneff, Krystal Teichow, Katelin Wilkinson, headed by Advisor Dennis Dwyer.

The Forty-Second Volume to the Spirit collection created by Northern Yearbook and Herff-Jones production company was made available to students for $60.00, and for the first time ever all 267 pages created on Adobe InDesign CS2 were printed on 4-color process blends, with the cover being Vista Lithograph the end sheets Colortext, Natural and the paper stock 80# Bordeaux.

The body copy was in AHJ Benjamin Gothic Book and headlines were in AHJ Handel Gothic, with accents of AHJ Sharpie. The yearbook was funded through book and advertisement sales with resources made available by the Port Huron Area School District.

The goal of this years Spirit staff was to showcase the fond memories here at Northern in a way entirely different than any year before, so that no matter what does in fact lie ahead, this book will always be a reminder of what went on while we were here, whether it be countless hours in the yearbook office on deadline night, or whatever else YOU made it to be.

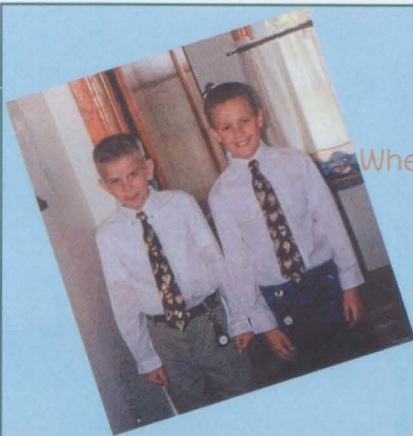

Acknowledgements

The 2006-2007 Port Huron Northern Yearbook staff would like to thank everyone involved in making this book a success. First of all, we would like to thank our very helpful and understanding administrators Mr. Dahlke, Mr. Mossett, Mr. Wagner, Mr. Crittenden and Mr. Dickinson. We would also like to give a big thank you to Mrs. Brennan for putting up with all of our requests for money and for taking care of all our ad money. We'd like to thank Mrs. Wilton, Mrs. Cassidy, and Mrs. Cadrette for providing us with information whenever we needed it. Mr. Wing and Dr. Lew were a huge help with our many computer problems. We'd like to thank all of the counselors, Ms. French, Mr. Bricker, Mrs. Marks and Mrs. Wiley for helping us deal with the all of the stress involved in making a yearbook. Finally, we'd like to thank Tony Noto, our Herff Jones representative for all of his help in guiding us through the year.

We would like to thank all of the businesses who generously supported our yearbook. First, the staff at Best Buy, especially Mr. Tim Gilbert, who helped us tremendously with purchasing cameras and computer accessories. We thank all the businesses who donated door prizes to our bowling benefit: ABC Warehouse, McDonalds, Dairy Queen, Red Lobster, Old Country Buffet, Buff's Carwash, Dolly's Pizza, Quiznos, Pizza Hut, and Speedy Q, and we thank Port Huron Lanes for letting us have our fundraiser there. We thank Real Estate Masters, Dr. Easton, Herff Jones, Daybreak Café, Cheap Charlie's, JoAnn Wine & Associates and Dr. Vernon Dencklau for purchasing full page ads in our book.

Congratulations Dennis!

To Brady (our favorite son),
Looking back, you have always made us proud to be your mom and dad.
We love you!

Through the years as we watched you grow up...

You have always made us so proud...

Compassion which you show to others...

Determination to push hard and do better...

The ability to smile and laugh, and make others do the same...

All things which are vital to a happy and successful future...

For you hold within yourself true beauty...

The ability to make all your dreams come true...

Shaina Elise Lavati,
Your songs are the music of your soul. Follow your heart and grow to be happy.
We love you!
Love,
Mom, Dad, & Tamara

In June of 1989
God gave us the most beautiful baby of all time.

Through the years of dance classes,
soccer practices, band concerts and your studies,
we now take the time to reflect on the beautiful young woman you've become, inside and out.

Remember to accomplish everything that is important to you, and most of all have fun.

Congratulations we are so proud of you.
May all your dreams come true.

Love Mom, Dad, Kaleih, and Brian

Laura and Chris

We started our journey with you tying my shoes, and now we've been side by side the whole way through!

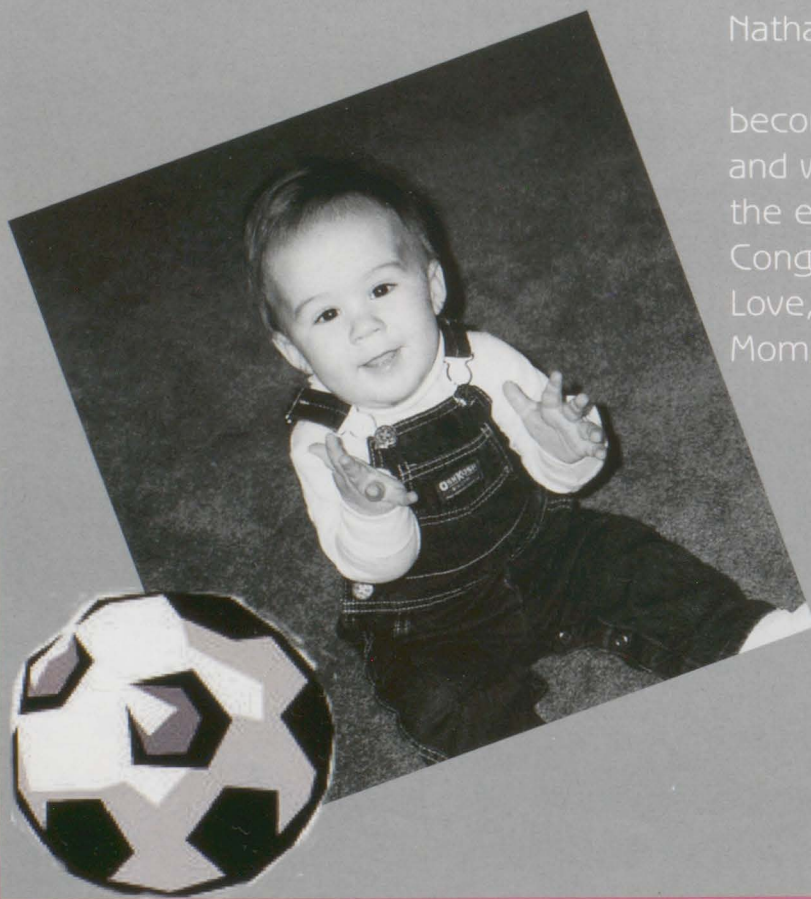

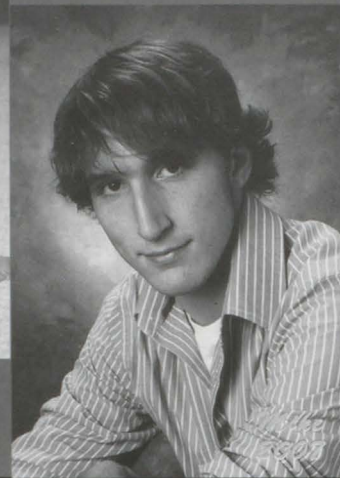

Remember that life is a journey and not a destination and you will be truly blessed if you remember to give to others who are in need.

We are proud of you son

Love

Mom and Dad

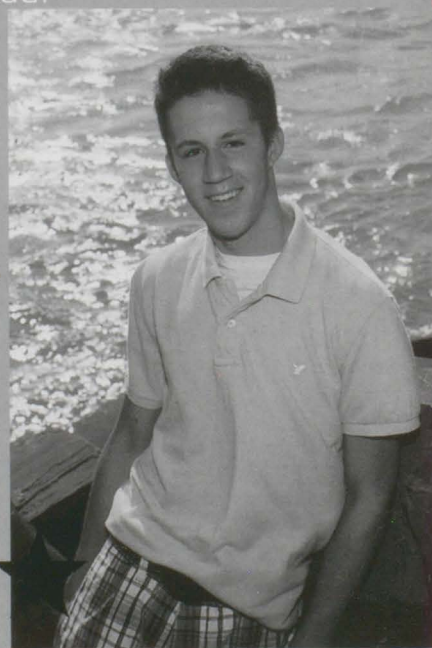

Nathaniel,

We are so proud of the man you have become. You have daily brought us such joy and we wish you just as much happiness in the exciting years ahead.

Congrats Nate!

Love,

Mom, Dad, and Avery

It is the passion flowing right on through your veins. And it's the feeling that you're oh so glad you came. It is the moment you remember you're alive. It is the air you breathe, the element, the fire. It is that flower that you took the time to smell. It is the power that you know you got as well. It is the fear inside that you can overcome. This is the orchestra, the rhythm and the drum

It is the soundtrack of your ever-flowing life. It is the wind beneath your feet that makes you fly. It is the beautiful game that you choose to play. When you step out into the world to start your day. You show your face and take it in and scream and pray. You're gonna win it for yourself and us today. It is the gold, the green, the yellow and the grey. The red and sweat and tears, the love you go.

-Nelly Furtado

Dear Danielle,

Words cannot express how proud we are of you. Just yesterday you were four and sitting with Aunt Lonnie having a grown up conversation!

How exciting your future is! You deserve it with all of your hard work!

We love you and will miss you when you go away to college!

Love Mom, Dad, Heather & Jonnie

Congratulations Jonny!
You have always made us so proud. Your accomplishments are many and you've only just begun. With love,
Mom, Dad and Janice

"Holy smokes, Angel Graduated!"
From the way-back days of green marker lipstick and play dough castles festooned with barrettes, you have been an exceptional child. Bless you for staying true to your "inner EB", and may all your journeys be as successful as this has been. We love you!

Mom, Kelsey, Grandma, Grandpa and Uncle Tom

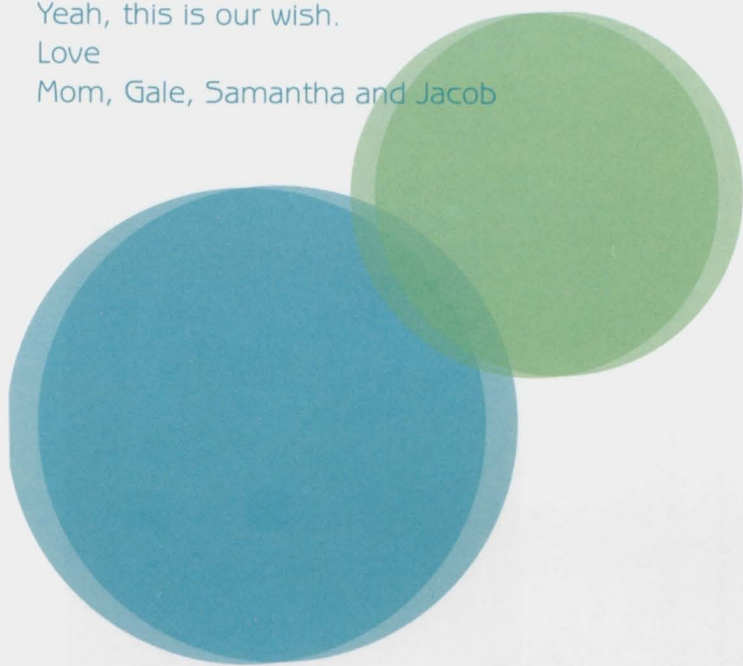

Abby,

Our wish for you is that this life becomes all that you want it to: your dreams stay big and your worries stay small, you never need to carry more than you can hold, and while you're out there getting where you're getting to, we hope you know somebody loves you and wants the same things too.

Yeah, this is our wish.

Love

Mom, Gale, Samantha and Jacob

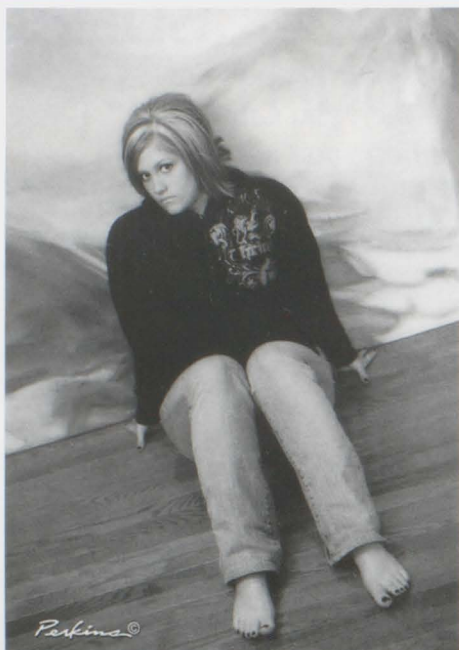

Dear Marilynn,

As you grow into such a beautiful person, you must know that we are so proud of all of your accomplishments. We wish you a wonderful and successful future. May you face all of the Challenges that life throws you with the same determination you show every day. Always your biggest fan!

Love,

Dad, Mom and Ryan

Carolyn,
Your love for God, strength of character, and passion for people are clearly seen in the way you live your life. We love you!

...IN TODAY'S FORECAST

So now you are walking out of Northern's doors, now you know you have got it all figured out, you have been through those sunny days, and those stormy nights, you've taken the good with the bad, and now you are ready to enter the next stages of your life. You have been exposed to all sorts of experiences, from roaring bleachers at the big rival games, to the rowdy crowds filled with Jamizzone fans, to big eventful assemblies full of screaming and cheering students. Whether you were on the fields or in the stands, you had your own sense of "Husky Pride" which you will take with you no matter which direction life takes you. Soon the diplomas will be distributed, and caps will fly, and you will leave with memories of knowing that you will always be a Husky in your heart. So take with you not only knowing that you were a Northern student, but that you will always remember entering those doors, and knowing that you were here for your last years of being a young adult. But whether the days having been sunny or cloudy, the more unpredictable the experiences, and the exposure to the multitude of challenges and successes, makes your young adult years at Northern all the more memorable and cherishing. So as you are walking back out of those doors into the world, the thoughts of blue and gold will flash through your mind, and you can look back on the notion that this place has shaped who you have become for the rest of your life.
